

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE

TO THE

FIRST EDITION.

THE great approbation with which so polite a nation as France has received the Satirical and Burlesque Dictionary of Monsieur Le Roux, testified by the several editions it has gone through, will, it is hoped, apologize for an attempt to compile an English Dictionary on a similar plan; our language being at least as copious as the French, and as capable of the witty equivoque; besides which, the freedom of thought and speech arising from, and privileged by, our constitution, gives a force and poignancy to the expressions of our common people, not to be found under arbitrary governments, where the ebullitions of vulgar wit are checked by the fear of the bastinado, or of a lodging during pleasure in some gaol or castle.

The many vulgar allusions and cant expressions that so frequently occur in our common conversation and periodical publications, make a work of this kind extremely useful, if not absolutely necessary, not only to foreigners, but even to natives resident at a distance from the Metropolis, or who do not mix in the busy world : without some such help, they might hunt through all the ordinary Dictionaries, from Alpha to Omega, in search of the words, " black legs, " lame duck, a plumb, malingering, nip cheese, " darbies, and the new drop," although these are all terms of well-known import at Newmarket, Exchange-alley, the City, the Parade, Wapping, and Newgate.

The fashionable words, or favourite expressions of the day, also, find their way into our political and theatrical compositions : these, as they generally originate from some trifling event, or temporary circumstance, on falling into disuse, or being superseded by new ones, vanish without leaving a trace behind. Such were the late fashionable words, a bore and a twaddle, among the great vulgar; maccaroni and the barber, among the small: these, too, are here carefully registered.

The Vulgar Tongue consists of two parts; the first is the Cant Language, called sometimes Pedlars French, or St. Giles's Greek; the second, those burlesque phrases, quaint allusions, and nick-names for persons, things, and places, which, from long uninterrupted usage, are made classical by prescription.

Respecting the first, that is, the canting language, take the account given of its origin, and the catastrophe of its institutor, from Mr. Harrison's Description of England, prefixed to Hollingshead's Chronicle; where, treating of beggars, gypsies, &c. he says, "It is not yet fifty years sith this trade began: but how it hath prospered sithens that time, it is easy to judge; for they are now supposed, of one sexe and another, to amount unto above ten thousand persons, as I have harde reported. Moreover, in counterfeiting the Egyptian roges, they have devised a language among themselves,

“ which they name Canting, but others Pedlars
“ French, a speache compact thirty years since
“ of English, and a great number of odde
“ words of their own devising, without all order
“ or reason; and yet such it is, as none but “ themselves are able to understand. The first “ deviser thereof was hanged by the neck, as a
“ just reward, no doubt, for his desartes, and a “ common end to all of that profession.

“ A gentleman (Mr. Thomas Harman) also
“ of late hath taken great paines to search out the “ secret practizes of this ungracious rabble; and,
“ among other things, he setteth down and de-
“ scribeth twenty-two sorts of them, whose names
“ it shall not be amisse to remember, whereby “ each one may gather what wicked people they “ are, and what villany remaineth in them.”

For this list see the word Crew.—This was the origin of the cant language; its terms have been collected from the following Treatises:—

The Bellman of London, bringing to light the most notorious villanies that are now practised in the kingdom. Profitable for gentlemen, lawyers, merchants, citizens, farmers, masters of households, and all sorts of servants, to marke, and delightfull for men to reade.—Lege, Perlege, Relege.—1608.

Thieves falling out, true men come by their goods.—1615.

English Villanies, seven severall times preat to death by the printers ; but (still reviving againe) are now the eighth time (as the first) discovered by lanthorne and candle-light : and the help of a new cryer, called O-per-se O ; whose loud voyce proclaims, to all that will hear him, another conspiracy of abuses lately plotting together, to hurt the peace of the kingdom ; which the bell-man (because he ther went stumbling i'th'dark) could never see till now ; and because a company of rogues, cunning canting gypsies, and all the scumme of our nation, fight under their tattered colours. At the end is a canting dictionary to teach their language, with canting songs. A booke to make gentlemen merry, citizens warie, countrymen carefull ; fit for justices to reade over, because it is a pilot by whom they may make strange discoveries.—London, 1638.

Bailey's and the new Canting Dictionary have also been consulted, with the History of Bamfield More Carew, the Sessions Papers, and other modern authorities. As many of these terms are still professionally used by our present race of free-booters of different denominations, who seem to have established a systematical manner of carrying on their business, a knowledge of them may therefore be useful to gentlemen in the commission of the peace.

The second part, or burlesque terms, have been drawn from the most classical authorities; such as soldiers on the long march, seamen at the capstern, ladies disposing of their fish, and the colloquies of a Gravesend-boat.

Many heroic sentences, expressing and inculcating a contempt of death, have been caught from the mouths of the applauding populace, attending those triumphant processions up Holborn-hill, with which many an unfortunate hero till lately finished his course; and various choice flowers have been collected at executions, as well those authorised by the sentence of the law, and performed under the direction of the sheriff, as those inflicted under the authority and inspection of that impartial and summary tribunal, called the Mob, upon the pickpockets, informers, or other unpopular criminals.

In the course of this work many ludicrous games and customs are explained, which are not to be met with in any other book : the succession of the finishers of the law, the abolition of the triumph or ovation of Holborn-hill, with the introduction of the present mode of execution at Newgate, are chronologically ascertained ; points of great importance to both the present and future compilers of the Tyburn Chronicle.

To prevent any charge of immorality being brought against this work, the Editor begs leave to observe, that when an indelicate or immodest word has obtruded itself for explanation, he has endeavoured to get rid of it in the most decent manner possible ; and none have been admitted but such as either could not be left out without rendering the work incomplete, or in some measure compensate by their wit for the trespass committed on decorum. Indeed, respecting this matter, he can with great truth make the same defence that Falstaff ludicrously urges in behalf of one engaged in rebellion, viz. that he did not seek them, but that, like rebellion in the case instanced, they lay in his way, and he found them.

xii PREFACE TO THE FIRST EDITION.

The Editor likewise begs leave to add, that if he has had the misfortune to run foul of the dignity of any body of men, profession, or trade, it is totally contrary to his intention; and he hopes the interpretations given to any particular terms that may seem to bear hard upon them, will not be considered as his sentiments, but as the sentiments of the persons by whom such terms were first invented, or those by whom they are used.

PREFACE

TO THE

SECOND EDITION.

THE favourable reception with which this Book was honoured by the Public has encouraged the Editor to present a second edition, more correctly arranged, and very considerably enlarged. Some words and explanations in the former edition having been pointed out as rather indecent or indelicate, though to be found in Le Roux, and other Glossaries of the like kind, these have been omitted, softened, or their explanations taken from books long sanctioned with general approbation, and admitted into the seminaries for the education of youth—such as Bailey's, Miede's, or Philips's Dictionaries ; so that it is hoped this work will now be found as little offensive to delicacy as the nature of it would admit.

A list is here added of such books as have been consulted for the additions.

PREFACE

TO THE

THIRD EDITION.

FEW, if any, remarks, I trust, will be deemed necessary, after the preceding PREFACES, in which the utility of such a DICTIONARY has been so clearly pointed out; and, after the care observed, in every instance, towards expunging coarse and broad expressions, where it could be done, without frittering away the spirit of the work. In the present edition, for myself, I have strongly to re-echo the sentiments of the former editors, namely, that I have neglected no opportunity of excluding indelicate phrases, which might have been adopted by my predecessors, nor of softening down others, where propriety pointed out such a course as not only necessary, but, perhaps, essential to render palatable this CLASSICAL DICTIONARY OF THE VULGAR TONGUE. At all events, if any apology is requisite, the subject in question must be viewed as a compilation of sentences collected from the lower walks of society, in which a scrupulous attention to nicety of expression is neither expected nor looked for; the persons alluded to, from whose lips they have escaped, not being “partiklar as to a shade” in colouring their lingo, or in displaying their taste for erudition—their only object being effect.

The above argument has been so well handled by a celebrated poet,* and is so a-propos, that I cannot elucidate the subject better than by quoting his remarks:—“ With respect to that “ peculiar language, called Flash or St. Giles’s “ Greek, in which Mr. CRIB’s Memorial and the “ other articles in the present volume are written, “ I beg to trouble the reader with a few observations. As this expressive language was originally invented, and is still used, like the

* Thomas Moore.

“ cipher of the diplomatists, for purposes of “ secrecy, and as a means of eluding the vigi“ lance of a certain class of persons, called,
“ flashicé, Traps, or in common language, Bow-
“ Street-Officers, it is subject of course to con“ tinual change, and is perpetually either alter“ ing the meaning of old words, or adding new “ ones, according as the great object, secrecy, “ renders it prudent to have recourse to such in“ novations. In this respect, also, it resembles
“ the cryptography of kings and ambassadors,
“ who, by a continual change of cipher, contrive
“ to baffle the inquisitiveness of the enemy. But, “ notwithstanding the Protean nature of the “ Flash or Cant language, the greater part of “ its vocabulary has remained unchanged for “ centuries, and many of the words used by the “ Canting Beggars in Beaumont and Fletcher,
“ and the Gipsies in Ben Jonson’s Masque, are “ still to be heard among the Gnostics of Dyot“ street and Tothill-fields. To prig is still to “ steal; to fib, to beat; lour, money; duds, “ clothes; prancers, horses; bouzing-ken, an “ alehouse; cove, a fellow; a sow’s baby, a pig,
“ &c. &c. There are also several instances of

“ the same term, preserved with a totally different signification. Thus, to mill, which was originally ‘to rob,’ is now ‘to beat or fight;’ and the word rum, which, in Ben Jonson’s time, and even so late as Grose, meant fine and good, is now generally used for the very opposite qualities; as, ‘he’s but a rum one,’ &c. Most of the Cant phrases in Head’s English Rogue, which was published, I believe, in 1666, would be intelligible to a Greek of the present day; though it must be confessed that the Songs which both he and Dekker have given would puzzle even that ‘Graia gentis decus,’ Caleb Baldwin, himself. For instance, one of the simplest begins,

“ Bing out, bien Morts, and toure and toure,

“ Bing out, bien Morts, and toure;

“ For all your duds are bing’d awast;

“ The bien Cove hath the loure.

“ To the cultivation, in our times, of the science of Pugilism, the Flash Language is indebted for a considerable addition to its treasures. Indeed, so impossible is it to describe the operations of THE FANCY without “ words of proportionate energy to do justice

 “ to the subject,—that we find Pope and Cowper,
 “ in their translation of the Set-to in the Iliad, “ pressing words into the service which had “ seldom, I think, if ever, been enlisted into
 “ the ranks of poetry before. Thus Pope,

“ Secure this hand shall his whole frame confound,

“ Mash all his bones and all his body pound.

“ Cowper, in the same manner, translates ποψε
 “ δε παρηιον, ‘pash’d him on the cheek;’
 “ and, in describing the wrestling-match, makes “ use of a term, now more properly applied to “ a peculiar kind of blow,* of which Mendoza
 “ is supposed to have been the inventor.

“ Then his wiles

“ Fergat not he, but on the ham behind

“ Choppid him.”

As this work is a classical one, I hope Mr.
 Hazlitt will not be offended by my quoting his opinions upon the subject. “ What we understand by cant or slang phrases.—To give an example of what is not very clear in the general statement. I should say that the phrase To cut with a knife, or To cut a piece of wood, is perfectly free from vulgarity, because it is perfectly common: but to cut an acquaintance is not quite unexceptionable, because it is not perfectly common or intelligible, and has hardly yet escaped out of the limits of slang phraseology. I should hardly therefore use the word in this sense without putting it in italics as a license of expression, to be received cum grano salis. All provincial or bye-phrases come under the same mark of reprobation—all such as the writer transfers to the page from his fire-side or a particular coterie, or that he invents for his own sole use and convenience. I conceive that words are like money, not the worse for being common, but that it is the stamp of custom alone that gives them circulation or value.—“The proper force of words lies not in the words themselves, but in their application. A word may be a fine-sounding word, of an unusual length, and very imposing from its learning and novelty, and yet in the “ connection in which it is introduced, may be “ quite pointless and irrelevant. It is not pomp

* “ A chopper is a blow struck on the face with the back
 “ of the hand.”—Boriana, vol. ii. p. 20.

“ or pretension, but the adaptation of the ex“ pression to the idea that clenches a writer’s “ meaning:—as it is not the size or glossiness
“ of the materials, but their being fitted each to “ its place, that gives strength to the arch; or as “ the pegs and nails are as necessary to the sup“ port of the building as the larger timbers, and “ more so than the mere showy, unsubstantial
“ ornaments, I hate any thing that occupies
“ more space than it is worth. I hate to see a “ load of band-boxes go along the street, and I “ hate to see a parcel of big words without any“ thing in them.”*

So do I, Mr. Hazlitt; but, unfortunately for me, the instance that I shall quote to support the assertion is from the vulgar tongue. However, as some slight balance in its favour, it has none of the emptiness of the band-box about it; on the contrary, it is one of the shortest, if not the most emphatic sentences in the English language. The Classic, in toasting it over his champagne,

* Second Volume of Table Talk: “On familiar Style.” might shrug up his shoulders, and make wry faces, with contempt, at its vulgarity, and let the force of it die away upon his lips; but to hear it from the chaffer of a rough and ready costard-monger, ogling his POLL from her walker to her upper crust, with a pot of heavy in his morley, and drinking to her, with a leary, wanton nod, "Here's LOOK!" then the beauty and conciseness of the expression, added to the emphasis, character, and effect of laconic phraseology, must be felt beyond all doubt: indeed, it is a volume in itself; and even the learned might admit it to be multum in parvo. The slang language, in many other instances, is very emphatic—videlicet, Pigs, meaning TRAPS, otherwise thief-takers; the etymology of which phrase stands good in the rookeries, although such sort of derivation might be in danger of being queered by the M.A.'s at the UNIVERSITIES.—The meaning is, that, as the pigs root up the ground with their snouts, so the traps, being down to the haunts of the thieves, root up the prigs when they want them. A more elegant illustration cannot be met with even in the work on the "SUBLIME and BEAUTIFUL." The flash lingo has, also, its synonomies—for money, the numerous terms are applied, the blunt, the lour, ketter, steeven, mopusses, stuff, cole, rhino, needful, bit, ready, bustle, &c. &c.

In order to throw as much light upon this classical subject as I can, and as there is nothing like authorities to proceed upon, I feel induced to make the following poetic quotation from a little ingenious work* connected with the argument:—

“ But many of my readers may not know

What 'tis the FANCY means, so I'll explain it.

I hope the very LEARNED will not throw

Sticks on my explanation, and disdain it;

The best of language can but be so, &c,—

Tho' BERKELEY breed it, and tho' BARCLAY train it;

I struggle all I can,—I do my best;

The thing is difficult,—but let that rest.

“ FANCY'S a term for every blackguardism,—

A term for favourite men and favourite cocks,—

A term for gentlemen who make a schism

Without the lobby, or within the box;

For the best rogues of polish'd VULGARISM,

And those who deal in scientific knocks;

For bull-dog breeders, badger-baiters,—all

Who live in gin and jail, or not at all!

* The FANCY : a Selection from the Poetical Remains of the late Peter Corcoran, of Gray's Inn, student-at-law.

xxviii PREFACE TO THE THIRD EDITION.

The subject is so inexhaustible, and travels out to such an extent, that it would be a waste of time to pursue it any further, in order to point out more authorities by way of elucidation; suffice it to observe, that every exertion has been made to collect and arrange, under their proper heads, all the new phrases which have occurred since the last edition. To improve, not to degrade mankind; to remove ignorance, and put the UNWARY on their guard; to arouse the sleepy, and to keep them AWAKE; to render those persons who are a little UP, more FLY: and to cause every one to be down to those tricks, manœuvres, and impositions practised in life, which daily cross the paths of both young and old, has been the sole aim of the Editor; and if he has succeeded in only one instance in doing good, he feels perfectly satisfied that his time has not been misapplied.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH

FRANCIS GROSE, ESQ.

MR. GROSE, an eminent antiquary, was the son of a jeweller, at Richmond, in Surrey, who fitted up the coronation crown for George II. He was born in 1731, and having a taste for heraldry and antiquities, his father procured him a place in the College of Arms, which, however, he resigned in 1763. By his father he was left an independent fortune, which he was not of a disposition to add to or even to preserve. He early entered into the Surrey Militia, of which he became adjutant and paymaster; but so much had dissipation taken possession of him, that, in a situation which, above all others, required attention, he was so careless as to have for some time (as he used pleasantly to tell) only two books of accounts, viz. his right and left hand pockets. In the one he received, and from the other paid ; and this, too, with a want of circumspection which may be readily supposed from such a mode of book-keeping. His losses on this occasion roused his latent talents : with a good classical education he united a fine taste for drawing, which he now began again to cultivate ; and, encouraged by his friends, he undertook the work from which he derived both profit and reputation : his Views of Antiquities in England and Wales, which he first began to publish, in numbers, in 1773, and finished in 1776. The next year he added two more volumes to his English Views, in which he included the islands of Guernsey and Jersey, which were completed in 1787. This work, which was executed with accuracy and elegance, soon became a favourite with the public at large, as well as with professed antiquaries, from the neatness of the embellishments, and the succinct manner in which he conveyed his information, and, therefore, answered his most sanguine expectations ; and, from the time he began it to the end of his life, he continued without intermission to publish various works, generally to the advantage of his literary reputation, and almost always to the benefit of his finances. His wit and good humour were the abundant source of satisfaction to himself and entertainment to his friends. He visited almost every part of the kingdom, and was a welcome guest wherever he went. In the summer of 1789 he set out on a tour in Scotland; the result of which he began to communicate to the public in 1790, in numbers. Before he had concluded this work, he proceeded to Ireland, intending to furnish that kingdom with views and descriptions of her antiquities, in the same manner he had executed those of Great Britain; but, soon after his arrival in Dublin, being at the house of Mr. Hone there, he suddenly was seized at table with an apoplectic fit, on the 6th of May, 1791, and died immediately. He was interred in Dublin.

“ His literary history,” says a friend, “ respectable as it is, was exceeded by his good-humour, conviviality, and friendship. Living much abroad, and in the best company at home, he had the easiest habits of adapting himself to all tempers; and, being a man of general knowledge, perpetually drew out some conversation that was either useful to himself, or agreeable to the party. He could observe upon most things with precision and judgment; but his natural tendency was to humour, in which he excelled both by the selection of anecdotes and his manner of telling them: it may be said, too, that his figure rather assisted him, which was, in fact, the very title-page to a joke. He had neither the pride nor malignity of authorship: he felt the independency of his own talents, and was satisfied with them without degrading others. His friendships were of the same cast; constant and sincere, overlooking some faults, and seeking out greater virtues."

Grose, to a stranger, says Mr. Noble, might have been supposed not a surname, but one selected as significant of his figure, which was more of the form of Sancho Pança than Falstaff; but he partook of the properties of both. He was as low, squat, and rotund as the former, and not less a sloven; equalled him, too, in his love of sleep, and nearly so in his proverbs. In his wit he was a Falstaff. He was the but for other men to shoot at, but it always rebounded with a double force. He could eat with Sancho, and drink with the knight. In simplicity, probity, and a compassionate heart, he was wholly of the Pança breed; his jocularities could have pleased a prince. In the "St. James's Evening Post," the following was proposed as an epitaph for him:—

" Here lies FRANCIS GROSE.
On Thursday, May 12, 1791,
Death put an end to his Views and prospects."

At Hooper's, the bookseller, in High Holborn, who was publisher of Captain Grose's Works, a room was set apart, where a conversation was held between the literary characters of that period. It is asserted that the Captain was a most prominent feature in those meetings, and that the company were delighted with the peculiar felicity with which he related his various facetious stories and interesting anecdotes. Captain Grose was also a great observer of men and manners, and possessed a fine and accurate taste for painting. Dr. Griffiths, Arthur Murphy, Mr. Quick, the celebrated comedian, &c. &c. were among the persons who frequently visited the Captain at Hooper's, where they discussed the literary topics of the day.

The Captain had a funny fellow, of the name of Tom Cocking, one after his own heart, as an amanuensis, and who was also a draughtsman of considerable merit. He was of great service to the Captain in his Tour through England, Ireland, and Scotland. In the latter place, Captain Grose became intimately acquainted with Robert Burns, the poet, who thus describes the Antiquarian:—

If in your bounds ye chance to light
Upon a fine, fat, fodgeg wight
O' stature short, but genius bright,
That's he, mark weel—
And wow ! he has an unco slight
O' cauk and keel.

It's tauld he was a sodger bred,
And ane wad rather fa'n than fled :
But now he's quat the spurtle-blade,
 And dog-skin wallet,
And taen the—Antiquarian trade,
 I think they call it.

xxxiv BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH OF

But wad ye see him in his glee,
For mekle glee and fun has he,
Then set him down, and twa or three
Gude fellows wi' him ;
And port, O port ! shine thou a wee,
And then ye'll see him !

Now, by the Pow'rs o' Verse and Prose !
Thou art a dainty chield, O Grose !—
Whae'er o' thee shall ill suppose,
They sair misca' thee ;
I'd tak the rascal by the nose,
Wad say, Shame fa' thee.

EPIGRAM ON CAPTAIN FRANCIS GROSE,

THE CELEBRATED ANTIQUARIAN.

The following Epigram, written in a moment of festivity by Burns, was so much relished by Grose, that he made it serve as an excuse for prolonging the convivial occasion that gave it birth to a very late hour.

The Devil got notice that Grose was a dying,
So whip ! at the summons, old Satan came flying :
But when he approach'd where poor FRANCIS lay moaning,
And saw each bed-post with its burden a groaning
Astonished ! confounded ! cry'd Satan, by G-d,
I'll want 'im, ere I take such a d——ble load.

The Captain, it seems, was extremely fond of taking his porter of an evening at the King's Arms,* in Holborn, nearly opposite Newton-Street, a house distinguished for the company of wits, men of talent, and the most respectable tradesmen in the neighbourhood of Bloomsbury-Square. Mr. Quick was also a constant visiter at the King's Arms. Here the Captain was the hero of the tale; and often in turn shook his fat sides with laughter, at the number of "good things," in the shape of bon mots, repartees, &c. which nightly passed between the company at one table or the other.

The Captain had a man of the name of Batch, who was a sort of companion and servant united in the same per-

* It is worthy of remark, that the King's Arms has, for upwards of the last forty years, been a tavern of the same description: and at the present period (1823), under the management of Mr. Dawson, it still retains its character in being the resort of men of literature: persons connected with the press; artists; distinguished performers belonging to the Theatres Royal; men of talent in general; and merchants and tradesmen of the highest respectability in society, where, after the fatigues of their various vocations are over for the day, they unbend, with that playfulness of disposition, and liberality of mind, which makes the remembrance of worthy and upright companions vibrate on the heart with magical effect. The late much-lamented and celebrated comedian, Mr. John Emery, till a short time before his decease, was a constant visiter: here his enlivening conversation, choice anecdotes, and humourous songs, never failed to "set the table in a roar." The King's Arms is also distinguished for an harmonic society of the most select description, denominated the HYGEIAN CLUB.

xxxvi BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH OF son. Batch and his master used frequently to start at midnight from the King's Arms, in search of adventures. The Back Slums of St. Giles's were explored again and again ; and the Captain and Batch made themselves as affable and jolly as the rest of the motley crew among the beggars, cadgers, thieves, &c. who at that time infested the Holy Land !* The Scout-Kens, too, were often visited by them, on the "look-out" for a bit of fun ; and the dirty "smoke-pipes" in Turnmill-Street did not spoil the Captain's taste in his search after character !

* A note cannot be deemed superfluous here, otherwise the sentence might remain a perfect paradox—the Holy Land, infested with thieves, &c. It most certainly is not the "Land of Promise ;" neither can I vouch for the accuracy of the derivation, which states the meaning to be, that the inhabitants of the Holy Land (St. Giles's) are more holely in their garments than righteous in their conduct.—Sacer, in Latin, and Sacre, in French, are used in the double sense of holy or cursed !

Neither were the rough squad at St. Kitts, and “the sailor-boys cap’ring a-shore” at Saltpetre-Bank, forgotten in their nightly strolls by Batch and his master.

In short, wherever a “bit of life” could be seen to advantage, or the “knowledge-box” of the Captain obtain any thing like a “new light” respecting mankind, he felt himself happy, and did not think his time misapplied. It was from these nocturnal sallies, and the slang expressions which continually assailed his ears, that Captain Grose was first induced to compile a CLASSICAL DICTIONARY OF THE VULGAR TONGUE, intended for the amusement, if not for the benefit, of the public.

Batch, at the request of his master, was directed one evening to dress himself in the Captain’s regimentals, in order to personate Mr. Grose on a particular occasion; but, like the character of FALSTAFF, he was obliged to be

xxxviii BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH OF

"stuffed" with pillows, &c. before he could play the part; the regimentals of the captain being big enough to contain two such fellows as Batch. But somewhat different from the old axiom of "like master, like man," poor Batch was scarcely dressed for the character, when attempting in the street to ascend the steps of a hackney-coach to join the party in which he was destined to represent the Captain, his foot slipped, and he was nearly rolling into the kennel. Batch felt so encumbered with the stuffing that he could not get upon his legs, and loudly solicited the assistance of Coaches once more to enable him to obtain his equilibrium. On Jerry's lifting him up, one of his hands sunk in, and appeared to be lost in the belly of the Captain; when he exclaimed with the greatest surprise, "By G—, I never felt any person in all my life half so soft; what the devil is the gentleman made of?"—while Mr. Grose, in his private clothes, stood, at Hooper's door, laughing at the ludicrous scene, and enjoying it beyond description.

Tom Cocking likewise used to relate many droll circumstances which befel the Captain in his travels: it being Tom's province, at night, to put two straps over his master, for the purpose of keeping the bed-clothes on him, Captain Grose being so bulky and uncomfortable to himself.

Captain Grose delighted much in punning upon his own figure, of which we shall mention an instance, as a proof of his familiarity and good nature. In a culinary tête-à-tête with his housekeeper, she thus expostulated with him:—Sir, as you are inclinable to be FAT, you should not eat food of a nourishing kind; you should —” —“ You jade, (replied he,) I am not inclinable to be fat; that I am fat is totally against my inclination; I consider it a misfortune to be fat. For the future, therefore, remember that I am disinclined to be FAT!”

The following anecdote is recorded of Mr. Grose: “ When he went to Ireland, his curiosity led him to see every thing in the capital worthy of notice: in the course of his perambulations, he one evening strolled into the principal meat-market of Dublin, when the butchers, as usual, set up their cry of “ what do you buy? what do you buy, master?” Grose parried this for some time, by saying “ he wanted nothing;” as last, a butcher starts from his stall, and, eyeing Grose’s figure from top to bottom, which was something like Doctor Slop’s in Tristram Shandy, exclaimed, “ Well, sir, though you don’t want any thing at present, only say you buy your meat of me; and by G— you’ll make my fortune.”

The works of Mr. GROSE are not only numerous, but, also, connected with the highest ranks in literature; yet this learned gentleman did not think his time mis-spent in stepping aside from subjects of a graver class to compile a "CLASSICAL DICTIONARY OF THE VULGAR TONGUE." This work was published in 1785, and has gone through several editions.

A

CLASSICAL DICTIONARY

OF THE

BANDS. To wear the bands, is to be hungry, or short of food for any length of time; a phrase chiefly used on board the hulks, or in jails.

BANDY. A sixpence. Cant.

BANG UP. (Whip.) Quite the thing. Well done. Complete. Dashing. In a handsome stile. A bang up cove; a dashing fellow who spends his money freely. To bang up prime: to bring your horses up in a dashing or fine style: as the swell's rattler and prads are bang up prime; the gentleman sports an elegant carriage and fine horses. A man, who has behaved with extraordinary spirit and resolution in any enterprise he has been engaged in, is also said to have come bang up to the mark; any article which is remarkably good or elegant, or any fashion, act, or measure which is carried to the highest pitch, is likewise illustrated by the same emphatical phrase.

BANG. To beat.

BANGING. Great; a fine banging boy.

BANG STRAW. A nick-name for a thresher, but applied to all the servants of a farmer.

BANKRUPT CART. A one-horse chaise, said to be so called by a Lord Chief Justice, from their being so frequently used on Sunday jaunts by extravagant shopkeepers and tradesmen.

BANKRUPTCY LIST, to be put on the, signifies, in pugilism—To be completely finished. Randall, in his poetic Farewell to the Prize Ring, says,

" Oh sad is the heart that can say ' the deuce take her,'
To Fame, when she's backing a blade of the fist;
But Turner I've clean'd out; and Martin the Baker,
I'd very near put on the Bankruptcy list."

Vide Randall's Diary.

BANKS'S HORSE. A horse famous for playing tricks, the property of one Banks. It is mentioned in Sir Walter Raleigh's Hist. of the World, p. 178; also by Sir Kenelm Digby and Ben Jonson. Obsolete.

BANTLING. A young child.

BANYAN DAY. A sea term for those days on which no meat is allowed to the sailors: the term is borrowed from the Banyans in the East Indies, a cast that eat nothing that has had life.

BAPTISED, or CHRISTENED. Rum, brandy, or any other spirits, that have been lowered with water.

BARBER'S CHAIR. She is as common as a barber's chair, in which a whole parish sit to be trimmed; said of a prostitute.

BARBER'S SIGN. A standing pole and two wash-balls.

BARGAIN. To sell a bargain: a species of wit, much in vogue about the latter end of the reign of Queen Anne, and frequently alluded to by Dean Swift, who says the maids of honour often amused themselves with it. It consisted in the seller naming his or her hinder parts, in answer to the question, What? which the buyer was artfully led to ask. As a specimen, take the following instance: A lady would come into a room full of company, apparently in a fright, crying out, It is white, and follows me! On any of the company asking, What? she sold the bargain, by saying, My a-se.

BARGEES. (Cambridge.) Barge-men on the river.

BARKER. The shopman of a bow-wow shop, or dealer in second-hand clothes, particularly about Monmouth-street, who walks before his master's door, and deafens every passenger with his cries of—Clothes, coats or gowns;—what d'ye want, gemmen?—what d'ye buy? See Bow-wow SHOP.

BARKSHIRE. A member or candidate for Barkshire, said of one troubled with a cough; vulgarly styled barking.

BARKING-IRONS. Pistols, from their explosion resembling the bow-wow or barking of a dog. Irish.

BARN. A parson's barn; never so full but there is still room for more. Bit by a barn mouse, tipsey, probably from an allusion to barley.

BARNABY. An old dance to a quick movement. See Cotton, in his Virgil Travesti; where, speaking of Æolus, he has these lines, “ Bounce cry the port-holes, out they fly,

And make the world dance Barnaby.”

BARNACLE. A good job, or snack easily got: also shell-fish growing at the bottoms of ships; a bird of the goose kind; an instrument like a pair of pincers to fix on the noses of vicious horses whilst shoeing; a nick-name for spectacles, and also for the gratuity given to grooms by the buyers and sellers of horses.

BARREL FEVER. He died of the barrel fever; he killed himself by drinking.

BARROW MAN. A man under sentence of transportation;

B A W

- alluding to the convicts at Woolwich, who are principally employed in wheeling barrows full of brick or dirt.
- BARTHOLOMEW BABY. A person dressed up in a tawdry manner, like the dolls or babies sold at Bartholomew fair.
- BASH. To bounce over any person, to blow up.
- BASKET. An exclamation frequently made use of in cock-pits, at cock-fightings, where persons refusing or unable to pay their losings, are adjudged by that respectable assembly to be put into a basket suspended over the pit, there to remain during that day's diversion: on the least demur to pay a bet, Basket is vociferated in terrorem. He grins like a basket of chips: a saying of one who is on the broad grin.
- BASKET-MAKING. The good old trade of basket-making; copulation, or making feet for children's stockings.
- BASTARDLY GULLION. A bastard's bastard.
- BASTE. To beat. I'll give him his bastings, I'll beat him heartily.
- BASTILE. A flash term for the House of Correction, in Cold Bath Fields: so termed when under the management of Governor Aris. For shortness termed the Steel.
- BASTING. A beating.
- BASTONADING. Beating any one with a stick; from baton, a stick, formerly spelt baston.
- BAT. A low whore: so called from moving out like bats in the dusk of the evening.
- BATCH. We had a pretty batch of it last night; we had a hearty dose of liquor. Batch originally means the whole quantity of bread baked at one time in an oven.
- BATTNER. An ox: beef being apt to batten or fatten those that eat it. The cove has hushed the battner; i. e. has killed the ox.
- BATCHELOR'S FARE. Bread and cheese and kisses.
- BATCHELOR'S SON. A bastard.
- BATTLE ROYAL. A battle or bout at cudgels or fisty-cuffs, wherein more than two persons are engaged: perhaps from its resemblance, in that particular, to more serious engagements fought to settle royal disputes.
- BAWBEE. A halfpenny. Scotch.
- BAWBELS, or BAWBLES. Trinkets; a man's testicles.
- BAWD. A female procuress.
- BAWDY BASKET. The twenty-third rank of canters, who carry pins, tape, ballads, and obscene books, to sell, but live mostly by stealing. Cent.
- BAWDY-HOUSE BOTTLE. A very small bottle; short measure being among the many means used by the keepers of those houses to gain what they call an honest livelihood: indeed this is one of the least reprehensible; as the less they give a man of their beverages for his money the kinder they behave to him.

BAY FEVER. A term of ridicule applied to convicts, who sham illness, to avoid being sent to Botany Bay.

BAY OF CONDOLENCE. Where we console our friends; if plucked, and left at a Nonplus. Oxf. Univ. Cant.

BEADLE. A blue roquelaure, to sport a Beadle, to fly a Beadle, &c. &c. Cant.

BEAK. A justice of peace, or magistrate. Also a judge or chairman who presides in court. I clapp'd my peepers full of tears, and so the old beak set me free; I began to weep, and the judge set me free. The late Sir John Fielding, of police memory, was known among family people by the title of the blind beak.

BEAN. A guinea. HALF BEAN; half a guinea.

BEAR. One who contracts to deliver a certain quantity or sum of stock in the public funds, on a future day, and at a stated price; or, in other words, sells what he has not got, like the huntsman in the fable, who sold the bear's skin before the bear was killed. As the bear sells the stock he is not possessed of, so the bull purchases what he has not money to pay for; but, in case of any alteration in the price agreed on, either party pays or receives the difference. Stock Exchange.

BEAR-GARDEN JAW or DISCOURSE. Rude, vulgar language, such as was used at the bear-gardens.

BEAR LEADER. A travelling tutor.

BEARD SPLITTER. A man much given to wenching.

BEARINGS. I'll bring him to his bearings; I'll bring him to reason. Sea term.

BEAST. To drink like a beast, i. e. only when thirsty.

BEAST WITH TWO BACKS. A man and woman in the act of copulation. Shakespeare in Othello.

BEATER CASES. Boots. Cant.

BEAU-NASTY. A slovenly fop; one finely dressed, but dirty.

BEAU TRAP. A loose stone in the pavement, under which water lodges, and on being trod upon squirts it up, to the great damage of white stockings; also a sharper neatly dressed, lying in wait for raw country squires, or ignorant fops.

BECALMED. A piece of sea wit, sported in hot weather. I am becalmed, the sail sticks to the mast; that is, my shirt sticks to my back. His prad is becalmed; his horse is knocked up.

BECK. A beadle. See HERMANBECK.

BED. Put to bed with a mattock, and tucked up with a spade; said of one that is dead and buried. You will go up a ladder to bed, i. e. you will be hanged. In many country places, persons hanged are made to mount up a ladder, which is afterwards turned round or taken away; whence the term, "Turned off."

BEDFORDSHIRE. I am for Bedfordshire, i. e. for going to bed.

BEDIZENED. Dressed out, over-dressed, or awkwardly ornamented.

BED-MAKER. Women employed at Cambridge to attend on the students, sweep their rooms, &c. They will put their hands to any thing, and are generally blest with a pretty family of daughters; who unmake the beds as fast as they are made by their mothers.

BEEF. To cry beef; to give the alarm. They have cried beef on us. Cant. To be in a man's beef; to wound him with a sword. To be in a woman's beef; to having carnal knowledge of her. Say you bought your beef of me; a jocular request from a butcher to a fat man, implying that he credits the butcher who serves him.

BEEF EATER. A yeoman of the guards, instituted by Henry VII. Their office was to stand near the bouffet, or cupboard, thence called Bouffetiers, since corrupted to Beef Eaters. Others suppose they obtained this name from the size of their persons, and the easiness of their duty, as having scarcely more to do than to eat the king's beef.

BEE-WAX. Cheese. Cant.

BEETLE-BROWED. One having thick projecting eye-brows.

BEETLE-HEADED. Dull, stupid.

BEGGAR MAKER. A publican, or ale-house keeper.

BEGGAR'S BULLETS. Stones. The beggar's bullets began to fly, i. e. they began to throw stones.

BEILBY'S BALL. He will dance at Beilby's Ball, where the sheriff pays the music; he will be hanged. Who Mr. Beilby was, or why that ceremony was so called, remains, with the quadrature of the circle, the discovery of the philosopher's stone, and divers other desiderata, yet undiscovered.

BELAY. To stop. Sea term.

BELCH. All sorts of beer; that liquor being apt to cause eructation.

BELCHER. A yellow silk handkerchief, intermixed with white and a little black. The kiddy flashes his Belcher; the young fellow wears a silk handkerchief round his neck. First introduced by the celebrated Jem Belcher.

BELL, BOOK, AND CANDLE. They cursed him with bell, book, and candle; an allusion to the popish form of excommunicating and anathematizing persons who had offended the church.

BELL, TO BEAR THE. To excel or surpass all competitors, to be the principal in a body or society; an allusion to the fore horse or leader of a team, whose harness is commonly ornamented with a bell or bells. Some suppose it a term borrowed from an ancient tournament, where the victorious knight bore away the belle or fair lady. Others derive it from a horse-race, or other rural contentions, where bells were frequently given as prizes.

BELLOWS. The lungs.

BELLOWER. The town crier.

BELLOWSER. Transportation for life: i. e. as long.

BELLY. His eye was bigger than his belly; a saying of a person at table, who takes more on his plate than he can eat.

BELLYFUL. A hearty beating, sufficient to make a man yield or give out. A woman with child is also said to have got her belly full.

BELLY CHEAT. An apron.

BELLY PLEA. The plea of pregnancy, generally adduced by female felons capitally convicted, which they take care to provide for previous to their trials; every gaol having, as the Beggar's Opera informs us, one or more child-getters, who qualify the ladies for that expedient to procure a respite.

BELLY TIMBER. Food of all sorts.

BELL SWAGGER. A noisy bullying fellow.

BELL WETHER. The chief or leader of a mob; an idea taken from a flock of sheep, where the wether has a bell about his neck.

BENDER. A sixpence. Cant.

BENDER. An ironical word used in conversation by flash people; as where one party affirms or professes any thing which the other believes to be false or insincere, the latter expresses his incredulity by exclaiming, Bender! or, if one asks another to do any act which the latter considers unreasonable or impracticable, he replies, O, yes, I'll do it—Bender; meaning, by the addition of the last word, that, in fact, he will do no such thing.

BENE. Good.—BENAR. Better. Cant.

BENE BOWSE. Good beer, or other strong liquor. Cant.

BENE COVE. A good fellow. Cant.

BENE DARKMANS. Good night. Cant.

BENE FEAKERS OF GYBES. Counterfeiters of passes. Cant.

BENESHIPLY. Worshipfully. Cant.

BEN. A fool. Cant.

BENISH. Foolish.

BENJY. A vest. Cant.

BERMUDAS. A cant name for certain places in London, privileged against arrests, like the Mint, in Southwark. Ben Jonson. These privileges are abolished. Obsolete.

BESS, or BETTY. A small instrument used by house-breakers to force open doors. Bring bess and glim; bring the instrument to force the door and the dark lantern. Small flasks, like those for Florence wine, are also called Betties.

BESS. See BROWN BESS.

BEST. To get your money at the best, signifies to live by dishonest or fraudulent practices, without labour or industry, according to the general acceptance of the latter word; but, certainly, no persons have more occasion to be industrious, and in a state of perpetual action than cross coves; and, experience has proved, when too late, to many of them, that honesty is the best policy; and, consequently, that the above phrase is by no means à propos.

BEST OF A CHARLEY. Upsetting a watchman in his box.

BETTY. A picklock; to unbetty, or betty a lock, is to open or relock it, by means of the betty, so as to avoid subsequent detection.

BETTY MARTIN. That's my eye, Betty Martin; an answer to any one that attempts to impose or humbug: a corruption of "Mihi beutæ martinis."

BEVER. A morning's luncheon: also a fine hat; beaver's fur making the best hats.

BEVERAGE. Garnish money, or money for drink, demanded of any one having a new suit of clothes.

BIBLE. A boatswain's great axe. Sea term.

BIBLE OATH. Supposed by the vulgar to be more binding than an oath taken on the Testament only, as being the bigger book, and generally containing both the Old and New Testaments.

BIDDY, or CHICK-A-BIDDY. A chicken; and, figuratively, a young wench.

BIDET; commonly pronounced BIDDY. A kind of tub, contrived for ladies to wash themselves, for which purpose they bestride it like a French pony, or post-horse, called, in French, bidets.

BIENLY. Excellently. She wheedled so bienly; she coaxed or flattered so cleverly. French.

BILL AT SIGHT. To pay a bill at sight; to be ready at all times for the venereal act.

BILK. To cheat. Let us bilk the rattling cove; let us cheat the hackney coachman of his fare. Cant. Bilking a coachman, a box-keeper, and a poor whore, were, formerly, among men of the town, thought gallant actions.

BILL OF SALE. A widow's weeds. See HOUSE TO LET.

BILLINGSGATE LANGUAGE. Foul language or abuse. Billingsgate is the market where the fishwomen assemble to purchase fish; and where, in their dealings and disputes, they are somewhat apt to leave decency and good manners a little on the left hand.

B I T

BING. To go. Cant. Bing avast; get you gone. Binged avast in a darkmans; stole away in the night. Bing we to Rumieville? shall we go to London?

BINGO. Brandy or other spirituous liquor. Cant.

BINGO BOY. A dram drinker. Cant.

BINGO MORT. A female dram drinker. Cant.

BINNACLE WORD. A fine or affected word, which sailors jeeringly offer to chalk up on the binnacle.

BIRD AND BABY. The sign of the eagle and child.

BIRD'S-EYE WIPE. A spotted handkerchief. Cant.

BIRDS OF A FEATHER. Rogues of the same gang.

BIRTH-DAY SUIT. He was in his birth-day suit, that is stark naked.

BISHOP. A mixture of wine and water into which is put a roasted orange.

BISHOPPED, or TO BISHOP. A term used among horse-dealers for burning the mark into a horse's tooth after he has lost it by age: by bishopping, a horse is made to appear younger than he is. It is a common saying of milk that is burnt, too, that the bishop has set his foot in it. Formerly, when a bishop passed through a village, all the inhabitants ran out of their houses to solicit his blessing, even leaving their milk, &c. on the fire, to take its chance, which, when burnt, was said to be bishopped.

BISHOP THE BALLS. A term used among printers, to water them.

BIT. Money. He grappled the cull's bit; he seized the man's money. A bit is also the smallest coin in Jamaica, equal to about sixpence sterling. To grab the bit; to seize the cash.

BITCH. A she dog or doggess; the most offensive appellation that can be given to an English woman, even more provoking than that of whore, as may be gathered from the regular Billingsgate or St. Giles's answer—"I may be a whore but can't be a bitch."

BITCH. To yield or give up an attempt through fear. To stand bitch; to make tea, or do the honours of the tea-table, performing a female part: bitch there standing for woman, species for genus.

BITCH BOOBY. A country wench. Military term.

BIT FAKER. A coiner. Cant.

BIT OF GIG. Fun. A spree, &c. Cant.

BITE. To over-reach or impose; also to steal. Cant. Biting was once esteemed a kind of wit, similar to the humbug. An instance of it is given in the Spectator:—A man, under sentence of death, having sold his body to a surgeon, rather below the market price, on receiving the money, cried A bite! I am to be hanged in chains. To bite the roger; to steal a portmanteau. To bite the wiper; to steal a handkerchief. To bite on the bridle; to be pinched, or reduced to difficulties. Hark ye, friend, whether do they bite in the collar or the cod-piece? Water wit to anglers.

B L A

BLAB. A tell-tale, or one incapable of keeping a secret.

BLACK AND WHITE. In writing. I have it in black and white; I have written evidence.

BOG LANDER. An Irishman; Ireland being famous for its large bogs, which furnish the chief fuel in many parts of that kingdom.

BOG TROTTER. The same.

BOG HOUSE. The necessary house. To go to bog; to go to stool.

BOGY. Ask boggy, i. e. ask mine a-se. Sea-wit.

BOH. Said to be the name of a Danish general, who so terrified his opponent Foh, that he caused him to bewray himself. Whence, when we smell a stink, it is customary to exclaim, Foh! i. e. I smell general Foh. He cannot say Boh to a goose; i. e. he is a cowardly or sheepish fellow. There is a story related of the celebrated Ben Jonson, who always dressed very plain, that, being introduced to the presence of a nobleman, the peer, struck by his homely appearance and awkward manner, exclaimed, as if in doubt, "you Ben Jonson! why you look as if you could not say Boh to a goose!" "Boh!" replied the wit. Obsolete.

BOLD. Bold as a miller's shirt, which every day takes a rogue by the collar.

BOLT. A blunt arrow.

BOLT UPRIGHT. As erect, or straight up, as an arrow set on its end.

BOLT. To run suddenly out of one's house, or hiding place, through fear; a term borrowed from a rabbit-warren, where the rabbits are made to bolt, by sending ferrets into their burrows: we set the house on fire, and made him bolt. To bolt, also means to swallow meat without chewing: the farmer's servants in Kent are famous for bolting large quantities of pickled pork.

BOLT-IN-TUN. A term founded on the cant word bolt, and merely a fanciful variation, very common among flash persons, there being in London a famous inn so called; it is customary when a man has run away from his lodgings, broke out of a jail, or made any other sudden movement, to say the Bolt-in-tun is concerned; or, He's gone to the Bolt-in-tun; instead of simply saying, He has bolted, &c. See BOLT.

BOLUS. A nick-name for an apothecary.

BONE BOX. The mouth. Shut your bone box; shut your mouth.

BONED. Seized, apprehended, taken up by a constable; Cant. Tell us how you was boned, signifies, tell us the story of your apprehension; a common request among fellow-prisoners in a jail, &c. which is readily complied with in general; and the various circumstances therein related afford present amusement, and also useful hints for regulating their future operations, so as to avoid the like misfortune.

B O R

BONE PICKER. A footman.

BONES. Dice.

BONE SETTER. A hard-trotting horse.

BONNET. A concealment, pretext, or pretence; an ostensible manner of accounting for what you really mean to conceal; as a man who actually lives by depredation will still outwardly follow some honest employment, as a clerk, porter, newsman, &c. By this system of policy, he is said to have a good bonnet if he happens to get boned; and, in a doubtful case, is commonly discharged on the score of having a good character. To bonnet for a person, is to corroborate any assertion he has made, or to relate facts in the most favourable light, in order to extricate him from a dilemma, or to further any object he has in view.

BOOBY, or DOG BOOBY. An awkward lout, clodhopper, or country fellow. See CLODHOPPER and LOUT. A bitch booby; a country wench.

BOTTOMLESS PIT. The monosyllable.

BOUGHS. Wide in the boughs; with large hips and posteriors.

BOUGHS. He is up in the boughs; he is in a passion.

BOUNCE. To bully, threaten, talk loud, or affect great consequence; to bounce a person out of any thing, is to use threatening or high words, in order to intimidate him, and attain the object you are intent upon; or to obtain goods of a tradesman, by assuming the appearance of great respectability and importance, so as to remove any suspicion he might at first entertain. A thief, detected in the commission of a robbery, has been known by this sort of finesse, aided by a genteel appearance and polite manners, to persuade his accusers of his innocence, and not only to get off with a good grace, but induce them to apologize for their supposed mistake, and the affront put upon him. This master-stroke of effrontery is called giving it to 'em upon the bounce.

BOUNCE. A person well or fashionably dressed, is said to be a rank bounce.

BOUNCER. A large man or woman; also a great lie.

BOUNCING CHEAT. A bottle; from the explosion in drawing the cork. Cant.

BOUNG. A purse. Cant.

BOUNG NIPPER. A cut purse. Cant. Formerly, purses were worn at the girdle, from whence they were cut.

BOOSE, or BOUSE. Drink.

BREEZE. To raise a breeze; to kick up a dust, or breed a disturbance.

BRIDGE. To make a bridge of any one's nose; to push the bottle past him, so as to deprive him of his turn of filling his glass: to pass one over.

BRIDGE. To bridge a person, or throw him over the bridge, is, in a general sense, to deceive him by betraying the confidence he has reposed in you, and, instead of serving him faithfully, involve him in ruin or disgrace; or, three men being concerned alike in any transaction, two of them will form a collusion to bridge the third, and engross to themselves all the advantage that may eventually accrue. Two persons having been engaged in a long or doubtful contest or rivalry, he who, by superior art or perseverance, gains the point, is said to have thrown his opponent over the bridge. Among gamblers, it means deceiving the person who had backed you, by wilfully losing the game; the money so lost by him being shared between yourself and your confederates who had laid against you. In playing three-handed games, two of the party will play into each others' hands, so that the third must inevitably be thrown over the bridge; commonly called, two poll one. See PLAY ACROSS.

BRIM. (Abbreviation of brimstone.) An abandoned woman: perhaps, originally, only a passionate or irascible woman, compared to brimstone for its inflammability.

BRING TO. To stop. See phrase.

BUFFER NABBER. A dog stealer. Cant.

BUFFER. One that steals and kills horses and dogs for their skins; also an inn-keeper: it signifies also a boxer.

" And the first words the Buffer said,
Were,— ' By the living Jingo, Ned,' &c.

Vide Randall's Diary.

B U L

" And whips waved high, and fists flew out,
For Belcher leapt the ring without,
And peeled the Buffers dexterously."

Ibid.

" The Buffers, both boys of ' The Holy Ground.'"
Crib's Memorial.

BUFFER. A man who takes an oath: generally applied to Jew bail.

BUFFLE-HEADED. Confused, stupid.

BUG. A nick-name given by the Irish to Englishmen; bugs having, as it is said, been introduced into Ireland by the English.

BUG. A cant word among journeymen hatters, signifying the exchanging some of the dearest materials of which a hat is made for others of less value. Hats are composed of the furs and wool of divers animals, among which is a small portion of beavers' fur. Bugging is stealing the beaver, and substituting in lieu thereof an equal weight of some cheaper ingredient. Bailiffs who take money to postpone or refrain the serving of a writ, are said to bug the writ.

BUG-HUNTER. An upholsterer.

BUGABOE. A scare-babe, or bully beggar. Sheriff's officer.

BUGABOO. A tally man: one who calls for his money weekly: the person owing the money, asks if the bugaboo has been, when he is compelled to keep out of sight from the want of cash.

BUGGY. A one-horse chaise.

BULK AND FILE. Two pickpockets; the bulk jostles the party to be robbed, and the file does the business.

BULKER. One who lodges all night on a bulk or projection before old-fashioned shop windows.

BULKIE. A constable. Scotch slang.

BULL. A Stock Exchange term for one who buys stock on speculation for time, i. e. agrees with the seller, called a bear, to take a certain sum of stock at a future day, at a stated price: if at that day stock fetches more than the price agreed on, he receives the difference; if it falls or is cheaper, he either pays it, or becomes a lame duck, and waddles out of the Alley. See LAME DUCK and BEAR.

BULL. A blunder; from one Obadiah Bull, a blundering lawyer of London, who lived in the reign of Henry VII.; by a bull, is now always meant a blunder made by an Irishman. A bull was also the name of false hair formerly much worn by women. To look like bull beef, or as black as bull beef; to look fierce or surly. Town bull, a great whore-master.

BULL. A crown piece. HALF BULL; half a crown.

- BUSHY PARK. A man who is poor is said to be at Bushy-park, or in the park.
- BUSK. A piece of whalebone, or ivory, formerly worn by women, to stiffen the fore part of their stays: hence the toast —both ends of the busk.
- BUSS BEGGAR. An old superannuated fumbler, whom none but beggars will suffer to kiss them.
- BUS NAPPER. A constable. Cant.
- BUS NAPPER'S KENCHIN. A watchman. Cant.
- BUSTLE. A cant term for money.
- BUSTLE. Any object effected very suddenly, or in a hurry, is said to be done upon the bustle. To give it to a man upon the bustle is to obtain any point, as borrowing money, &c. by some sudden story or pretence, and affecting great haste, so that he is taken by surprise and becomes duped before he has time to consider of the matter.
- BUSY. As busy as the devil in a high wind: as busy as a hen with one chick.
- BUTCHER'S DOG. To belike a butcher's dog; i. e. lie by the beef without touching it: a simile often applicable to married men.
- BUTT. A dependant, poor relation, or simpleton, on whom all kinds of practical jokes are played off; and who serves as a butt for all the shafts of wit and ridicule.
- BUTTER AND EGGS TROT. A kind of short jog trot, such as is used by women going to market, with butter and eggs. She looks as if butter would not melt in her mouth, yet I warrant you cheese would not choke her; a saying of a demure looking woman of suspected character. Don't make butter dear; a gird at the patient angler.
- BUTTERED BUN. One lying with a woman that has just lain with another man is said to have a buttered bun.
- BUTTERING UP. Praising or flattering any person that does not deserve it. It is used in that exquisite volume, Cribb's Memorial, thus—

C A D

“ For, knowing how, on Moulsey's plain,
The Champion fibb'd the poet's nob,
This buttering-up, against the grain,
We thought was curr'd genteel in Bob.”
Vide Cribb's Memorial.

- CARRY WITCHET. A sort of conundrum, puzzlewit, or riddle.
- CART. To put the cart before the horse; to mention the last part of a story first. To be flogged at the cart's a-se or tail; persons guilty of petty larceny are frequently sentenced to be tied to the tail of a cart, and whipped, by the common executioner, to a certain distance: the degree of severity in the execution is left to the discretion of the executioner, who, it is said, has cats of nine tails of all prices.
- CARVEL'S RING. The monosyllable. Ham Carvel, a jealous old doctor, being in bed with his wife, dreamed that the Devil gave him a ring, which, so long as he had it on his finger, would prevent his being made a cuckold: waking, he found he had got his finger the L—d knows where. See Rabelais and Prior's versification of the story.
- CARVER AND GILDER. A match-maker.
- CASCADE. To vomit.
- CASE. A house of ill-fame; perhaps from the Italian casa. In the canting lingo is meant a store or ware house, as well as a dwelling-house. Tout that case; mark or observe that house. CATCHING HARVEST. A dangerous time for a robbery, when many persons are on the road, on account of a horse-race, fair, or some other public meeting.

CATCH PENNY. Any temporary contrivance to raise a contribution on the public.

CATCH POLE. A bum bailiff, or sheriff's officer.

CATER COUSINS. Good friends. He and I are not cater cousins, i. e. we are not even cousins in the fourth degree, or four times removed; that is, we have not the least friendly connexion.

CATERPILLAR. A nick name for a soldier. In the year 1745, a soldier, quartered at a house near Derby, was desired by his landlord to call upon him whenever he came that way; for, added he, soldiers are the pillars of the nation. The Rebellion being finished, it happened the same regiment was quartered in Derbyshire, when the soldier resolved to accept of his landlord's invitation, and, accordingly, obtained leave to go to him: but, on his arrival, he was greatly surprised to find a very cold reception; whereupon, expostulating with his landlord, he reminded him of his invitation, and the circumstance of his having said, soldiers were the pillars of the nation. If I did, answered the host, I meant caterpillars.

CATERWAULING. Going out in the night in search of intrigues, like a cat in the gutters.

C A T

- CAT-HARPING FASHION. Drinking cross-ways, and not, as usual, over the left thumb. Sea term.
- CAT-HEADS. A woman's breasts. Sea phrase.
- CATHEDRAL. Old-fashioned. An old cathedral bedstead, chair, &c.
- CAT IN PAN. To turn cat in pan, to change sides or parties; supposed originally to have been to turn cate or cake in pan.
- CAT LAP. Tea, called also scandal broth. See SCANDAL BROTH.
- CAT MATCH. When a rook or cully is engaged amongst bad bowlers.
- CAT OF NINE TAILS. A scourge composed of nine strings of whipcord, each string having nine knots.
- CATOLLER. A noisy, prating fool: one who annoys the company with proposals for betting, and ultimately never makes a bet. Few evenings pass over at the Castle-Tavern, Holborn, without meeting with a Catoller: in fact, the pass word is, at this celebrated sporting house, that TOM BELCHER would be in danger of losing his licence, if he did not often have a fool or Catoller exhibit himself for the amusement of his visitors.
- CAT'S FOOT. To live under the cat's foot; to be under the dominion of a wife, hen-pecked. To live like dog and cat; spoken of married persons who live unhappily together. As many lives as a cat; cats, according to vulgar naturalists, have nine lives, that is one less than a woman. No more chance than a cat in Hell without claws; said of one who enters into a dispute or quarrel with another greatly above his match.
- CAT'S MEAT. A slang phrase for the lungs: applied when any person is touched with a consumption; i. e. his Cat's meat is bad.
- CAT'S PAW. To be made a cat's paw of; to be made a tool or instrument to accomplish the purpose of another; an allusion to the story of the monkey, who made use of a cat's paw to scratch a roasted chestnut out of the fire.
- CAT'S SLEEP. Counterfeit sleep; cats often counterfeiting sleep, to decoy their prey near them, and then suddenly spring on them.
- CAT WHIPPING, or WHIPPING THE CAT. A trick often practised on ignorant country fellows, vain of their strength, by laying a wager with them that they may be pulled through a pond by a cat. The bet being made, a rope is fixed round the waist of the party to be catted, and the end thrown across the pond, to which the cat is also fastened by a packthread, and three or four sturdy fellows are appointed to lead and whip the cat; these, on a signal given, seize the end of the cord and, pretending to whip the cat, haul the astonished booby through the water.—To whip the cat, is, also, a term among tailors for working jobs at private houses, as practised in the country.

CAULIFLOWER. A large white wig, such as is commonly worn by the dignified clergy, and was formerly by physicians. Also, the private parts of a woman; the reason for which appellation is given in the following story: A woman, who was giving evidence in a cause, wherein it was necessary to express those parts, made use of the term cauliflower; for which the judge on the bench, a peevish old fellow, reproved her, saying she might as well call it artichoke. Not so, my lord, replied she, for an artichoke has a bottom, but a ~~COW~~ and a cauliflower have none.

CAUTIONS. The four cautions: I. Beware of a woman before.—II. Beware of a horse behind.—III. Beware of a cart sideways.—IV. Beware of a priest every way.

CAVAULTING SCHOOL. A bawdy-house.

CAVE OF ANTIQUITY. Depôt of old authors. Oxf. Univ. Cant.

CAW-HANDED, or CAW-PAWED. Awkward, not dexterous, ready, or nimble.

CAXON. An old weather-beaten wig.

CAZ. Cheese: As good as caz, is a phrase signifying that any projected fraud or robbery may be easily and certainly accomplished; any person who is the object of such attempt, and is known to be an easy dupe, is declared to be as good as caz, meaning that success is certain.

CENT PER CENT. An usurer.

CHAFED. Well beaten; from chauffé, warmed.

CHAFF-CUTTER. A knowing person, one whose tongue is of great use to him, in order to silence an antagonist, whether right or wrong. Cant.

CHAFFING. To blow up; to talk aloud. Cant.

CHANCERY. Getting your head "in chancery," among pugilists, is when your nob is completely at the mercy of your opponent; or, in other words, you cannot protect it. Receiving blow after blow. RANDALL, termed the NON-PAREIL of the Prize Ring, was distinguished for this peculiar trait among the boxers.

CHANT. A person's name, address, or designation; thus, a thief, who assumes a feigned name on his apprehension to avoid being known, or a swindler who gives a false address to a tradesman, is said to tip them a queer chant.

CHANT. A cipher, initials, or mark of any kind, on a piece of plate, linen, or other article; any thing so marked is said to be chanterd.

C H A

CHANT. An advertisement in a newspaper or hand-bill; also a paragraph in the newspaper describing any robbery or other recent event; any lost or stolen property, for the recovery of which, or a thief, &c., for whose apprehension a reward is held out by advertisement, are said to be chanted.

CHATTER BROTH. Tea. See CAT LAP and SCANDAL BROTH.

CHATTERERS. The teeth. Cant.

CHATTERING. A blow given on the mouth. Set all his teeth a chattering. A flash phrase.

CHATTERY. Cotton or linen goods.

CHATTS. Seals.

CHATTS. Lice: perhaps an abbreviation of chattels, lice being the chief live stock or chattels of beggars, gypsies, and the rest of the canting crew. Cant. Also, according to the canting academy, the gallows.

CHAUNT. A song.

CHAUNT. To sing. To publish an account in the newspapers. The kiddey was chaunted for a toby; his examination concerning a highway robbery was published in the papers.

CHAUNTED. Advertised. Cant.

CHAUNTER CULLS. Grub-street writers, who compose songs, carols, &c. for ballad-singers. Cant.

CHAUNTING COVES. Horse-dealers. A certain class of these fellows impose on the public by specious and imposing advertisements; who set forth qualities their horses never possessed: in short, a dead take in. Such advertisements are to be met with daily in the London newspapers.

CHAW BACON. A countryman. A stupid fellow.

C H I

CHEAPSIDE. He came at it by way of Cheapside; he gave little or nothing for it, he bought it cheap.

CHEATS. Sham sleeves to put over a dirty shift or shirt. See SHAMS.

CHEEK BY JOWL. Side by side; hand to fist.

CHEEKS. Ask cheeks near cunnyborough; the repartee of a St. Giles's fair one, who bids you ask her backside, anglicé her a-se. A like answer is current in France: any one asking the road or distance to Macon, a city near Lyons, would be answered by a French lady of easy virtue, 'Mettez votre nez dans mon cul, et vous serrez dans les Faux-bourgs.'

CHEESE IT. Be silent, be quiet, don't do it. Cheese it, the coves are fly; be silent, the people understand our discourse.

CHEESE-TOASTER. A sword.

CHELSEA. A village near London, famous for the military hospital. To get Chelsea; to obtain the benefit of this hospital. "Dead Chelsea, by G-d!" an exclamation uttered by a grenadier at Fontenoy, on having his leg carried away by a cannon-ball.

CHERRY-COLOURED CAT. A black cat, ^{ere} their being black cherries as well as red.

CHERUBIM. Peevish children, because cherubim and seraphim continually do cry.

CHESHIRE CAT. He grins like a Cheshire cat; said of any one who shows his teeth and gums in laughing.

CHEST OF TOOLS. Implements for house-breaking.

CHOAK. Choak away, the churchyard's near; a jocular saying to a person taken with a violent fit of coughing, or who has swallowed any thing, as it is called, the wrong way. Choak, chicken, more are hatching; a like consolation.

CHOAKING PYE, or COLD PYE. A punishment inflicted on any person sleeping in company; it consists in wrapping up cotton in a case or tube of paper, setting it on fire, and directing the smoke up the nostrils of the sleeper. See HOWELL'S COTGRAVE.

CHOAK OFF. A person who is impudent in company; or a man that might do another some mischief by giving evidence before a magistrate, or on his trial; against him; it is said, he must be choaked off;—at all events, he must be got rid of.

CHOAK PEAR. Figuratively, an unanswerable objection; also a machine formerly used in Holland by robbers: it was of iron, shaped like a pear; this they forced into the mouths of persons from whom they intended to extort money, and on turning a key, certain interior springs thrust forth a number of points, in all directions, which so enlarged it, that it could not be taken out of the mouth; and the iron, being case-hardened, could not be filed: the only methods of getting rid of it were, either by cutting the mouth, or advertizing a reward for the key. These pears were also called pears of agony.

C H U

CHOCOLATE. To give chocolate without sugar; to reprove.

Military term.

CHOICE SPIRIT. A gay, thoughtless, laughing, singing, merry, fellow.

CHOPPER. In bruising, is a blow struck on the face with the back of the hand. Mendoza claims the honour of its invention, but unjustly; he certainly revived, and considerably improved it. It was practised long before our time—Broughton occasionally used it; and Slack, it also appears, struck the chopper in giving the return in many of his battles.

CHOP AND CHANGE. To exchange backwards and forwards.

To chop, in the canting sense, means making despatch, or hurrying over any business: ex. The autem bawler will soon quit the hums, for he chops up the whiners; the parson will soon quit the pulpit, for he hurries over the prayers. See AUTEM BAWLER, HUMS, and WHINERS.

CHOP CHURCHES. Simoniacal dealers in livings, or other ecclesiastical preferments.

CHOPPING. Lusty. A chopping boy or girl; a lusty child.

CLY-FAKER. A pickpocket. Cant.

CLY THE JERK. To be whipped. Cant.

CLYSTER PIPE. A nick name for an apothecary.

COACH WHEEL. A half-crown piece is a fore coach wheel, and a crown piece a hind coach wheel; the fore wheels of a coach being less than the hind ones.

COAX. To fondle, or wheedle. To coax a pair of stockings; to pull down the part soiled into the shoes, so as to give a dirty pair of stockings the appearance of clean ones. Coaxing is also used, instead of darning, to hide the holes about the ancles.

COB. A Spanish dollar.

COB, or COBBING. A punishment used by the seamen for petty offences or irregularities among themselves: it consists in bastonading the offender on the posteriors with a cobbing stick, or pike staff; the number usually inflicted is a dozen. At the first stroke the executioner repeats the word watch, on which all persons present are to take off their hats, on pain of like punishment: the last stroke is always given as hard as possible, and is called the purse. Ashore, among soldiers, where this punishment is sometimes adopted, watch and the purse are not included in the number, but given over and above, or, in the vulgar phrase, free gratis for nothing. This piece of discipline is also inflicted in Ireland, by the school-boys, on persons coming into the school without taking off their hats; it is there called school butter.

C O C

COBBLE. To mend, or patch; likewise to do a thing in a bungling manner.

COBBLE COLTER. A turkey.

COBBLER. A mender of shoes, an improver of the understanding of his customers; a translator.

COCK AND HEN CLUB. These sort of clubs are always held upon the sly: in consequence of their appearing, in the eyes of the police, disorderly. The chairs (or chairman and chairwoman) are occupied by an out-and-out COVE and a flash woman: it is a horrid scene of depravity, drunkenness, and obscenity: a visit from the police-officers puts all to the rout in an instant, but those that are boned are locked up for the night, and have to give an account of themselves before the Beak the next morning.

COCK-A-WHOOP. Elevated, in high spirits, transported with joy.

COCK BAWD. A male keeper of a bawdy-house.

COCKER. One fond of the diversion of cock-fighting.

COCK HOIST. A cross buttock.

COCKISH. Wanton, forward. A cockish wench; a forward, coming girl.

COCKLES. To cry cockles; to be hanged: perhaps, from the noise made while strangling. Canst. This will rejoice the cockles of one's heart; a saying in praise of wine, ale, or spirituous liquors.

COCKNEY. A nickname given to the citizens of London, or persons born within the sound of Bow bell, derived from the following story:—A citizen of London being in the country, and hearing a horse neigh, exclaimed, Lord! how that horse laughs! A bystander informed him that that noise was called neighing. The next morning, when the cock crowed, the citizen, to show he had not forgotten what was told him, cried out, Do you hear how the cock neighs? The king of the cockneys is mentioned among the regulations for the sports and shows formerly held, in the Middle Temple, on Childermas Day; where he had his officers, a marshal, constable, butler, &c. See DUGDALE'S ORIGIN. JURIDICALES, p. 247. Ray says the interpretation of the word cockney is, a young person, coaxed or conquered, made wanton; or a nestle cock delicately bred and brought up, so as, when arrived at man's estate, to be unable to bear the least hardship. Whatever may be the origin of this appellation, we learn from the following verses, attributed to Hugh Bigot, Earl of Norfolk, that it was in use in the time of King Henry II.

" Was I in my castle at Bungay,
Fast by the river Waveney,
I would not care for the King of Cockney:"

i. e. the King of London.

- CRIB. To purloin, or appropriate to one's own use, part of any thing intrusted to one's care.
- CRIBBAGE-FACED. Marked with the small pox, the pits bearing a kind of resemblance to the holes in a cribbage-board.
- CRIBBETS, or CRIBBY ISLANDS. Blind alleys, courts, or bye-ways; perhaps from the houses built there being cribbed out of the common way or passage; and islands, from the similarity of sound to the Caribbee Islands.
- CRIMP. A broker or factor, as a coal crimp, who disposes of the cargoes of the Newcastle coal ships; also persons employed to trapan or kidnap recruits for the East India and African Companies. To crimp, or play crimp; to play foul or booty; also, a cruel manner of cutting up fish alive, practised by the London fishmongers, in order to make it eat firm; cod, and other crimped fish, being a favourite dish among voluptuaries and epicures.
- CRIPPLE. A crooked or bent sixpence.
- CRISPIN. A shoemaker; from a romance, wherein a prince of that name is said to have exercised the art and mystery of a shoemaker, thence called the gentle craft: or, rather, from the saints Crispinus and Crispianus, who, according to the legend, were brethren born at Rome, from whence they travelled to Soissons, in France, about the year 303, to propagate the Christian religion; but, because they would not be chargeable to others for their maintenance, they exercised the trade of shoemakers: the governor of the town, discovering them to be Christians, ordered them to be beheaded, about the same year; from which time they have been the tutelar saints of the shoemakers.
- CRISPIN'S HOLIDAY. Every Monday throughout the year, but most particularly the 25th of October, being the anniversary of Crispinus and Crispianus.

C R O

CRISPIN'S LANCE. An awl.

CROAK. To die. Cant.

CROAKED. Hanged. A flash term among keepers of prisons, who, speaking of a thief that was executed, observe, "He was croaked."

CROAKER. One who is always foretelling some accident or misfortune: an allusion to the croaking of a raven, supposed ominous.

CROAKUMSHIRE. Northumberland; from the particular croaking in the pronunciation of the people of that county, especially about Newcastle and Morpeth, where they are said to be born with a burr in their throats, which prevents their pronouncing the letter r.

CROAKERS. Forestallers, called also Kidders and Transters.

CROCODILES' TEARS. The tears of a hypocrite. Crocodiles are fabulously reported to shed tears over their prey before they devour it.

CROKER. A great, or four-pence.

CRONE. An old ewe whose teeth are worn out; figuratively, a toothless old beldam.

CRONY. An intimate companion, a comrade; also, a confederate in a robbery.

CROOK. Sixpence.

CROOK BACK. Sixpence; for the reason of this name, see CHIPPLE.

CROOK SHANKS. A nick name for a man with bandy legs. He buys his boots in Crooked-lane, and his stockings in Bandy-legged Walk; his legs grew in the night, therefore they could not see to grow straight: jeering sayings of men with crooked legs.

CROOK YOUR ELBOW. To crook one's elbow, and wish it may never come straight, if the fact then affirmed is not true; according to the casuists of Bow-street and St. Giles's, it adds great weight and efficacy to an oath.

CROP. A nick name for a Presbyterian: from their cropping their hair, which they trimmed close to a bowl-dish, placed as a guide on their heads; whence they were likewise called roundheads. See ROUNDHEADS.

CROP. To be knocked down for a crop; to be condemned to be hanged. Cropped, hanged.

CROPPEN. The tail. The croppen of the rotan; the tail of the cart. Croppen ken; the necessary house. Cant.

CROWDY. Oatmeal and water, or milk; a mess much eaten in the north.

CROW FAIR. A visitation of the clergy. See REVIEW OF THE BLACK CUIRASSIERS.

CROWN OFFICE. The head. I fired into her keel upwards; my eyes and limbs, Jack, the crown office was full; a woman with her head downwards. Sea-phrase.

CRUISERS. Beggars, or highway spies, who traverse the road to give intelligence of a booty; also, rogues ready to snap up any booty that may offer, like privateers or pirates on a cruise.

CRUMMY. Fat, fleshy. A fine crummy dame; a fat woman. He has picked up his crumbs finely of late; he has grown very fat, or rich, of late.

CRUMP. One who helps solicitors to affidavit men, or false witnesses. 'I wish you had, Mrs. Crump;' a Gloucestershire saying, in answer to a wish for any thing; implying, you must not expect any assistance from the speaker. It is said to have originated from the following incident: One Mrs. Crump, the wife of a substantial farmer, dining with the old Lady Coventry, who was extremely deaf, said to one of the footmen, waiting at table, 'I wish I had a draught of small beer,' her modesty not permitting her to desire so fine a gentleman to bring it: the fellow, conscious that his mistress could not hear either the request or answer, replied, without moving, 'I wish you had, Mrs. Crump.' These wishes being again repeated by both parties, Mrs. Crump got up from the table to fetch it herself; and being asked by my lady where she was going, related what had passed. The story being told abroad, the expression became proverbial.

C U N

CRUSTY BEAU. One that uses paint and cosmetics, to obtain a fine complexion.

CRUSTY FELLOW. A surly fellow.

CUB. An unlicked cub; an unformed, ill-educated, young man; a young nobleman or gentleman on his travels: an allusion to the story of the bear, said to bring its cub into form by licking. Also, a new gamester.

CUCKOLD. The husband of an incontinent wife: cuckolds, however, are Christians, as we learn by the following story: An old woman hearing a man call his dog Cuckold, reproved him sharply, saying, 'Sirrah, are not you ashamed to call a dog by a Christian's name?' To cuckold the parson; to go to bed with one's wife before she has been church'd.

DAD'S WILL. Parental authority. Oxf. Univ. Cant.

DAFFY. Vulgarly called GIN; but it has numerous other names. For instance, the squeamish fair one, who takes it on the sly, merely to cure the vapours, politely names it to her friends, as "white wine." The swell chaffs it as "blue ruin" to elevate his notions. The laundress loves dearly a drain of "Ould Tom," from its strength to comfort her inside. The drag fiddler can toss off a quartern of "max" without making a wry mug. The coster monger illumines his ideas with a "flash of lightning!" The hoarse Cyprian owes her existence to copious draughts of "Jackey." The link boy and mud lark, in joining their browns together, are for some "stark naked." And the out and outers, by the addition of bitters to it, in order to sharpen up a dissipated and damaged victualling office, cannot take any thing but "Fuller's earth!" Picture of the Fancy.

D A M

DAFFY CLUB. This original Society was founded by Mr. JAMES SOARES, at the Castle-tavern, Holborn, and who is the perpetual president of it. The sporting world is its hobby; and, respecting original anecdotes of the turf; the incidents of the prize-ring, and promoting scientific pugilism; the merits of the swift pedestrians of the day; a knowledge of the first-rate TROTTERS; an acquaintance with the best shots; good cockers; great cricketers; distinguished anglers; and thorough bred cattle, dogs, &c. most of the members of the club can prize themselves not deficient riders, whenever necessity requires them to mount. It is also conspicuous for its accommodation to story tellers. The spirituous liquor drank by the club is DAFY, (i. e. gin,) but in small quantities: as, the third of a quartern is the allowance for each member, at one time. It has obtained much notoriety from its good chaunting, every Friday night, during the season. Ibid.

DAGGERS. They are at daggers drawing; i. e. at enmity, ready to fight.

DAIRY. A woman's breasts, particularly one who gives suck. She sported her dairy; she pulled out her breast.

DAISY CUTTER. A jockey term for a horse that does not lift up his legs sufficiently, or goes too near the ground, and is therefore apt to stumble.

DAISY. A sea term applied to dock-mates.

DAM. A small Indian coin, mentioned in the Gentoo code of laws; hence etymologists may, if they please, derive the common expression, I do not care a dam, i. e. I do not care half a farthing for it.

DAMBER. A rascal. See DIMBER.

DAMNED SOUL. A clerk in a counting-house, whose sole business it is to clear or swear off merchandize at the custom-house; and who, it is said, guards against the crime of perjury, by taking a previous oath, never to swear truly on those occasions.

DAMPER. A luncheon, or snap before dinner; so called from its damping, or allaying, the appetite; eating and drinking being, as the proverb wisely observes, apt to take away the appetite.

DANCE UPON NOTHING. To be hanged.

DANCERS. Stairs.

DANDY. That's the dandy; i.e. the ton, the clever thing; an expression of similar import to "That's the barber."

DANDY. In 1820, a fashionable non-descript. Men who wore stays to give them a fine shape, and were more than ridiculous in their apparel.

Now a DANDY's a thing, describe him who can?
That is very much made in the shape of a man;
But if for but once could the fashion prevail,
He'd be more like an APR if he had but a tail.

I'm sure with the DANDIES we well may dispense,
As neither possessing wit, learning, nor sense;
And if in such follies they still will persist,
Throw them all in the Thames, and they'll never be miss'd.

DANDY GREY RUSSET. A dirty brown. His coat's dandy grey russet, the colour of the devil's nutting-bag.

DANDY PRAT. An insignificant or trifling fellow.

DANGLE. To follow a woman without asking the question. Also, to be hanged: I shall see you dangle in the sheriff's picture-frame; I shall see you hanging on the gallows.

DANGLER. One who follows women in general, without any particular attachment.

DANNA. Human, or other excrement. Cant.

DAPPER FELLOW. A smart, well-made, little man.

DARBY. Ready money. Cant.

DARK CULLY. A married man that keeps a mistress, whom he visits only at night, for fear of discovery.

DARKEE. A dark lanthorn used by housebreakers. Stow the darkee, and bolt, the cove of the crib is fly; hide the dark lanthorn, and run away, the master of the house knows that we are here.

DARKMANS. The night. Cant.

DAVID JONES'S LOCKER. The sea.

DAVID'S SOW. As drunk as David's sow; a common saying, which took its rise from the following circumstance: One David Lloyd, a Welchman, who kept an alehouse at Hereford, had a living sow with six legs, which was greatly resorted to by the curious; he had also a wife much addicted to drunkenness, for which he used sometimes to give her due correction. One day, David's wife having taken a cup too much, and being fearful of the consequences, turned out the sow, and lay down to sleep herself sober in the sty. A company coming in to see the sow, David ushered them into the sty, exclaiming, 'there is a sow for you! did any of you ever see such another?' all the while supposing the sow had really been there; to which some of the company, seeing the state the woman was in, replied, it was the drunkenest sow they had ever beheld; whence the woman was ever after called David's sow.

DAVY. I'll take my davy of it; vulgar abbreviation of affidavit.

DAWB. To bribe. The cull was scragged because he could not dawb; the rogue was hanged because he could not bribe. All bedawbed with lace; all over lace.

DAY LIGHTS. Eyes. To darken his day-lights, or sow up his sees; to close up a man's eyes in boxing.

DEAD CARGO. A term used by thieves, when they are disappointed in the value of their booty.

DEAD HORSE. To work for the dead horse; to work for wages already paid.

DEAD-LOUSE. Vulgar pronunciation of the Dedalus ship of war.

DEAD MEN. A cant word among journeyman bakers, for loaves falsely charged to their masters' customers; also, empty bottles. To be found, also, in that classic volume, Crib's Memorial.

DEADLY NEVERGREEN, that bears fruit all the year round. The gallows, or three-legged mare. See THREE-LEGGED MARE.

DEADY. One of the multitudinous epithets applied to gin; used by the poets of the Holy Land in many instances, as " Grows your hand more firm and steady,

In handing out the cheering Deady!"
Epistle to Randall, vide Randall's Diary.

" Taught by thee, we've quaff'd the Deady's stream
At Belcher's or at Randall's seat of strife."
Lines to Caleb Baldwin, Ibid.

Speaking of pleasure, the bard says,

" I've sought her face on Moulsey's ground,
Her aerial form in Deady's gin."
Vide Randall's Scrap Book.

DERBY. To come down with the derbies; to pay the money.

DERRICK. The name of the finisher of the law, or hangman, about the year 1608.—'For he rides his circuit with the Devil, and Derrick must be his host, and Tiburne the inn at which he will lighte.' Vide Bellman of London, in art. PRIGGIN LAW.—'At the gallows, where I leave them, as to the haven at which they must all cast anchor, if Derrick's cables do but hold.' Ibid.

DEVIL. A printer's errand-boy. Also, a small thread in the king's ropes and cables, whereby they may be distinguished from all others. The Devil himself; a small streak of blue thread in the king's sails. The Devil may dance in his pocket; i. e. he has no money; the cross on our ancient coins being jocularly supposed to prevent him from visiting that place, for fear, as it is said, of breaking his shins against it. To hold a candle to the Devil; to be civil to any one out of fear: is allusion to the story of the old woman who set a wax taper before the image of St. Michael, and another before the Devil, whom that saint is commonly represented as trampling under his feet: being reproved for paying such honour to Satan, she answered, as it was uncertain which place she should go to, heaven or hell, she chose to secure a friend in both places. That will be when the Devil is blind, and he has not got sore eyes yet; said of any thing unlikely to happen. It rains while the sun shines; the Devil is beating his wife with a shoulder of mutton: this phenomenon is also said to denote that cuckolds are going to heaven; or being informed of this, a loving wife cried out, with great vehemence, 'Run, husband, run!'

The Devil was sick, the Devil a monk would be ;
The Devil was well, the Devil a monk was he ;

a proverb signifying that we are apt to forget promises made in time of distress. To pull the Devil by the tail ; to be reduced to one's shifts. The Devil go with you and sixpence, and then you will have both money and company.
DEVIL. The gizzard of a turkey or fowl, scored, peppered, salted, and broiled : it derives its appellation from being hot in the mouth.

DUDGEON. Anger.

DUDS. Clothes.

DUES. This term is sometimes used to express money, where any certain sum or payment is spoken of; a man asking for money due to him for any service done, or a blowén requiring her previous compliment from a family-man, would say, Come, tip us the dues. So a thief, requiring his share of booty from his palls, will desire them to bring the dues to light.

DUES. This word is often introduced by the lovers of flash on many occasions, but merely out of fancy, and can only be understood from the context of their discourse; like many other cant terms, it is not easily explained on paper; for example, speaking of a man likely to go to jail, one will say, there will be quodding dues concerned; of a man likely to be executed, there will be topping dues; if any thing is alluded to that will require a fee or bribe, there must be tipping dues, or palming dues concerned, &c.

DUFFERS. Cheats who ply in different parts of the town, and pretend to deal in smuggled goods, stopping all country people, or such as they think they can impose on; which they frequently do, by selling them Spital-fields goods at double their current price.

DUGS. A woman's breasts.

DUKE HUMPHREY. To dine with Duke Humphrey; to fast. In old St. Paul's church was an aisle called Duke Humphrey's walk, (from a tomb vulgarly called his, but in reality belonging to John of Gaunt,) and persons who walked there, while others were at dinner, were said to dine with Duke Humphrey.

Frisk the dumme of the screens; take all the bank-notes out of the pocket-book: ding the dumme, and bolt, they sing out beef; throw away the pocket-book, and run off, as they call out "stop thief."

DUMMIE. A wooden man. A fool.

DUMPLIN. A short thick man or woman. Norfolk dumplin; a jeeting appellation of a Norfolk man, dumplins being a favourite kind of food in that county.

DUMPS. Down in the dumps; low-spirited, melancholy: jocularly said to be derived from Dumpos, a king of Egypt, who died of melancholy. Dumps are also small pieces of lead, cast by schoolboys in the shape of money.

DUN. An importunate creditor. Dunny, in the provincial dialect of several counties, signifies deaf; to dun, then, perhaps, may mean to deafen with importunate demands: some derive it from the word donner, which signifies give. But the true original meaning of the word owes its birth to one Joe Dun, a famous bailiff of the town of Lincoln, so extremely active, and so dexterous in his business, that it became a proverb, when a man refused to pay, Why do not you Dun him? that is, Why do not you set Dun to arrest him? Hence it became a cant word, and is now as old as since the days of Henry VII. Dun was also the general name for the hangman, before that of Jack Ketch.

E A R

“ And presently a halter got,
Made of the best strong hempen teer,
And, ere a cat could lick her ear,
Had tied it up with as much art
As DUN himself could do for's heart.”

Cotton's Virgil Trans. book iv.

EYE-WATER. Gin. Cant.

F

FACE-MAKING. Begetting children. To face it out; to persist in a falsity. No face but his own; a saying of one who has no money in his pocket, or no court-cards in his hand.

FACER. A bumper; a glass filled so full as to leave no room for the lip: also, a violent blow on the face.

FADGE. It won't fadge; it won't do. A farthing.

FAG. To beat. Fag the blossom; beat the wench. Cant. A fag also means a boy of an inferior form, or class, who acts as a servant to one of a superior, who is said to fag him; he is my fag:—whence, perhaps, fagged out, for jaded or tired. To stand a good fag; not to be soon tired.

FAGGER. A little boy put in at a window to rob a house.

FAGGOT. A man hired at a muster to appear as a soldier. To faggot, in the canting sense, means to bind: an allusion to the faggots made up by the woodmen, which are all bound. Faggot the culls; bind the men.

FAIR. A set of subterraneous rooms in the Fleet prison.

FAITHFUL. One of the faithful; a tailor who gives long credit. His faith hath made him unwhole; i. e. trusting too much broke him.

FAKE. A word so variously used, that we can only illustrate it by a few examples. To fake any person or place may signify to rob them; to fake a person may also imply to shoot, wound, or cut; to fake a man out and out is to kill him; a man who inflicts wounds upon, or otherwise disfigures, himself, for any sinister purpose, is said to have faked himself; if a man's shoe happens to pinch or gall his foot, from its being overtight, he will complain that his shoe fakes his foot sadly: it also describes the doing any act, or the fabricating any thing, as, to fake your slangs is to cut your irons in order to escape from custody; to fake your pins is to create a sore leg, as if accidentally, with an axe, &c. in hopes to obtain a discharge from the army or navy, to get into the doctor's list, &c.; to fake a screeve is to write any letter or other paper; to fake a screw is to shape out a skeleton, or false key, for the purpose of screwing a particular place; to fake a cly is to pick a pocket, &c. &c. &c.

FAKE AWAY, THERE'S NO DOWN. An intimation from a thief to his pall, during the commission of a robbery or other act; meaning, go on with your operations, there is no sign of any alarm or detection.

FAKEMAN-CHARLEY, FAKEMENT. As to fake signifies to do any act, or make any thing, so the fakement means the act or thing alluded to, and on which your discourse turns; consequently, any stranger, unacquainted with your subject, will not comprehend what is meant by the fakement: for instance, having recently been concerned with another in some robbery, and immediately separated, the latter taking the booty with him, on your next meeting, you will inquire, what he has done with the fakement? meaning the article stolen, whether it was a pocket-book, piece of linen, or what not. Speaking of any stolen property, which has a private mark, one will say, there is a fakeman-charley on it; a forgery, which is well executed, is said to be a prime fakement; in a word, any thing is liable to be termed a fakement, or a fakeman-charley, provided the person you address knows to what you allude.

FAKEMENT. A counterfeit signature. A forgery. Tell the macers to mind their fakements; desire the swindlers to be careful not to forge another's signature.

FANCIFUL FORMS OF BETTING. Various. Es. gr. Chelsea

F A Y

College to a sentry-box: Rhodes's farm to a milk-walk: Burlington-arcade to a smock-shop: Pompey's pillar to a stick of sealing-wax: Waterloo-bridge to a deal plank, &c.

FANCY. One of the FANCY means a sporting character, that is either attached to pigeons, dog-fighting, boxing, &c. also, any article universally admired for its beauty, or which the owner sets particular store by, is termed a fancy article. As a fancy clout is a favourite handkerchief, &c.; so, a woman, who is the particular favourite of any man, is termed his fancy woman, and vice versa.

FANCY PIECES. Women of pleasure, doxies, &c.

FANTASTICALLY DRESSED, with more rags than ribands.

FART. He has let a brewer's fart, grains and all, said of one who has bewrayed his breeches.

" Piss and fart,
Sound at heart.
*Mingere cum bumbis,
Res saluberrima est lumbis.*"

I dare not trust my a-se with a fart, said by a person troubled with a looseness.

FART CATCHER. A valet or footman, from his walking behind his master or mistress.

FARTING CRACKERS. Breeches.

FASTNER. A warrant.

FASTNESSES. Bogs.

FAT. All the fat is in the fire, that is, it is all over with us; a saying used in case of any miscarriage or disappointment in an undertaking: an allusion to overturning the frying-pan into the fire. Fat, among printers, means void spaces, a good job. A fat work, little to do and well paid for it.

FAT AS A HEN IN THE FOREHEAD. A saying of a meagre person.

FAT CULL. A rich fellow.

FAT HEADED. Stupid.

FAULKNER. A tumbler, juggler, or shower of tricks; perhaps, because they lure the people, as a falconer does his hawks. Cont.

FAWNEY. A ring.

FAWNEY RIG. A common fraud, thus practised:—a fellow drops a brass ring, double gilt, which he picks up before the party meant to be cheated, and to whom he disposes of it for less than its supposed, and ten times more than its real, value. See MONEY DROPPER.

FAYTORS, or FATORS. Fortune-tellers.

F E U

FEAGUE. To feague a horse; to put ginger up a horse's fundament, and, formerly, as it is said, a live eel, to make him lively, and carry his tail well. It is said, a forfeit is incurred by any horse-dealer's servant, who shall show a horse without first feaguings him. Feague is used, figuratively, for encouraging or spiring one up.

FEAK. The fundament.

FEATHER-BED-LANE. A rough or stony lane.

FEATHER ONE'S NEST. To enrich one's self.

FREEDER. A spoon. To nab the feeder; to steal a spoon.

FREET. To make feet for children's stockings, to beget children. An officer of feet; a jocular title for an officer of infantry.

FEINT. A sham attack on one part, when a real one is meant at another.

FELLOW COMMONER. An empty bottle; so called at the university of Cambridge, where fellow commoners are, not, in general, considered as over full of learning. At Oxford, an empty bottle is called a gentleman commoner for the same reason. They pay at Cambridge £250 a year for the privilege of wearing a gold or silver tassel to their caps. The younger branches of the nobility have the privilege of wearing a hat, and from thence are denominated HAT FELLOW COMMONERS.

FEN. A bawd, or common prostitute. Cant.

FENCE. To pawn or sell to a receiver of stolen goods. The kiddey fenced his thimble for three quids; the young fellow pawned his watch for three guineas. To fence invariably means to pawn or sell goods to a receiver.

FENCING KEN. The magazine or warehouse where stolen goods are secreted.

FERME. A hole. Cant.

FERRERDY BEGGARS. All those who have not the sham sores, or olymes.

FERRARA. Andrea Ferrara, the name of a famous sword-cutler; most of the Highland broad-swords are marked with his name: whence an Andrea Ferrara has become the common name for the glaymore, or Highland broad-sword. See GLAYMORE.

FERRER. A tradesman who sells goods to young unthrifty heirs, at excessive rates, and then continually duns them for the debt. To ferret, to search out or expel any one from his hiding-place, as a ferret drives out rabbits; also, to cheat. Ferret-eyed, red-eyed: ferrets have red eyes.

FETCH. A trick, wheedle, or invention to deceive.

FEUTERER. A dog-keeper; from the French vautrier, or vaultrier, one that leads a lime hound for the chase.

F I G

FIB. To beat. Fib the cove's quarron in the rumpad, for the lour in his bung; beat the fellow in the highway, for the money in his purse. Cant. A fib is also a tiny lie.

FIBBING. In bruising, signifies the getting an adversary's head under the arm and punching it. RANDALL is more celebrated for the dexterity with which he administers a fibbing than any in the prize-ring, either hand being equally effective, as in the case of West Country Dick, whom, after having fibbed, till he was tired, with the right hand, he flung on the right arm, holding him all the time with his feet off the ground, and rendered him, in a few seconds, a perfect spectacle. Indeed, whoever the opponent is that is unfortunate enough to have a fibbing administered by the Nonpareil, he speedily realizes the poet's lines :

" Heads, though thick, were made
But to be punch'd or broken."

Vide Randall's Scrap Book.

FIBBING GLOAK. A pugilist. Cant.

FICE, or FOYSE. A small windy escape backwards, more obvious to the nose than ears, frequently, by old ladies, charged on their lap-dogs. See FIZZLE.

FID OF TOBACCO. A quid, from the small pieces of tow with which the vent or touch-hole of a cannon is stopped. Sea term.

FIDDLE FADDLE. Trifling discourse, nonsense. A mere fiddle faddle fellow; a trifter.

FIDDLERS MONEY. All sixpences; sixpence being the usual sum paid by each couple for music at country wakes and hops. Fiddlers fare; meat, drink, and money. Fiddlers pay; thanks and wine.

FIDDLESTICK. A spring saw. Scotch cant.

FIDDLESTICK'S END. Nothing; the end of the ancient fiddlesticks ending in a point: hence metaphorically used to express a thing terminating in nothing.

FIDGETS. He has got the fidgets; said of one that cannot sit long in a place.

FIDLAM BEN. General thieves; called also St. Peter's sons, having every finger a fish-hook. Cant.

FIELD LANE DUCK. A baked sheep's head.

FIELDS OF TEMPTATION. The attractions held out to young men at the university. Oxf. cant.

FIERI FACIAS. A red-faced man is said to have been served with a writ of fieri facias.

FIGDEAN. To kill.

FIGGER. A little boy put in at a window to hand out goods to the diver. See DIVER.

FIGGING LAW. The art of picking pockets. Cant.

FILE, FILE CLOY, or BUNGNIFFER. A pickpocket. To file; to rob or cheat. The file, or bungnipper, goes generally in company with two assistants, the Adam Tiler and another, called the bulk or bulker, whose business it is to jostle the person they intend to rob, and push him against the wall, while the file picks his pocket, and gives the booty to the Adam Tiler, who scours off with it. Cant. It also signifies a person who has had a long course of experience in the arts of fraud, so as to have become an adept, is termed an old file upon the town; so it is usual to say of a man who is extremely cunning, and not to be overreached, that he is a deep file.

FIN. An arm. A one-finned man, a fellow who has lost an arm. Sea phrase.

FINE. Fine as five-pence. Fine as a cow-t—d stuck with primroses.

FINE. A man imprisoned for any offence. A fine of eighty-four months; a transportation for seven years.

FINGER IN EYE. To put finger in eye, to weep; commonly applied to women. The more you cry the less you'll p—sa, a consolatory speech used by sailors to their doxies. It is as great a pity to see a woman cry as to see a goose walk bare-foot, another of the same kind.

FINGER-POST. A parson; so called, because he points out a way to others which he never goes himself. Like the finger-post, he points out a way he has never been, and, probably, will never go, i. e. the way to heaven.

FINGER-SMITHS. Thieves. Midwives. Cant.

FINISH. The finish, a small coffee-house (in great repute to see a bit of life, in 1796) in Covent Garden market, opposite Russell-street, opened very early in the morning, and therefore resorted to by debauchees shut out of every other house.

FIPENNY. A clasp-knife. Cant.

F L A

FIRING A GUN. Introducing a story by head and shoulders. A man, wanting to tell a particular story, said to the company, "Hark; did you not hear a gun?—but now we are talking of a gun, I will tell you the story of one."

FISH. A seaman. A scaly fish; a rough, blunt tar. To have other fish to fry; to have other matters to mind, something else to do.

FIT. Suitable. It won't fit; it will not suit or do.

FIVES-COURT. A place distinguished (in addition to the game of fives) for sparring matches between the pugilists. The combatants belonging to the prize-ring exhibit the art of self-defence at the Fives-Court with the gloves; and it is frequently at this Court where public challenges are given and accepted by the boxers. The most refined and fastidious person may attend these exhibitions of sparring with pleasure; as they are conducted with all the neatness, elegance, and science, of FENCING. Admission, 3s. each person. It is situated in St. Martin's Street, Leicester-fields.

FIVE SHILLINGS. The sign of five shillings; i. e. the crown. Fifteen shillings; the sign of the three crowns.

FIZZLE. An escape backward.

FLABAGASTED. Confounded.

FLABBY. Relaxed, flaccid; not firm or solid.

FLAG. A groat. Cant. The flag of defiance, or bloody flag, is out, signifying, the man is drunk, and alluding to the redness of his face. Sea phrase.

FLAM. A lie or sham story: also, a single stroke on a drum. To flam; to hum, to amuse, to deceive. Flim flams; idle stories.

FLAP DRAGON. A clap or pox.

FLARE. To blaze, shine, or glare.

FLASH. Knowing. Understanding another's meaning. The swell was flash, so I could not draw his fogle; the gentleman saw what I was about, and therefore I could not pick his pocket of his silk handkerchief. To patter flash; to speak the slang language. See PATTER.

FLASH. A periwig. Rum flash; a fine long wig. Quack flash; a miserable, weather-beaten caxon.

FLASH. To show ostentatiously. To flash one's ivory; to laugh and show one's teeth. Don't flash your ivory, but shut your potato-trap, and keep your guts warm; the devil loves hot tripes.

"Bets ran a hundred to ten,
The Adonis would ne'er flash his ivory again."

Vide Crit's Memorial.

Cant.

FLASH CHAUNT. A song interlarded with flash.

FLASH KEN. A house that harbours thieves.

FLASH LINGO. The canting or slang language.

FLASH MAN. A favourite or fancy man; but this term is generally applied to those dissolute characters upon the town, who subsist upon the liberality of unfortunate women, and who, in return, are generally at hand, during their nocturnal perambulations, to protect them should any brawl occur, or should they be detected in robbing those whom they may have picked up.

FLASH MOLLISHER. A Cyprian. Cant.

FLASH OF LIGHTNING. A glass of gin.

“ No more let him swipe Deady's flashes of lightning.”

Vide Randall's Scrap Book.

FLASH PANNEYS. Houses to which thieves and prostitutes resort.

“ Next for his favourite *mot*¹ the *kiddey*² looks about,
And if she's in a flash panny,³ he swears he'll have her out ;
So he *fences*⁴ all his *togs*⁵ to buy her duds,⁶ and then
He *frisks*⁷ his master's *lob*⁸ to take her from the ken.⁹ ”

Flash Song.

FLASH THE HASH. To vomit. Cant.

FLAT. In a general sense, any honest man, or square cove, in opposition to a sharp or cross cove; when used particularly, it means the person you have a design to rob or defraud, who is termed the flat, or the flatty gory. A man who does any foolish or imprudent act is called a flat; any person, who is found to be an easy dupe to the designs of the family, is said to be a prime flat. It's a good flat that's never down, is a proverb among flash people, meaning, that though a man may be repeatedly duped or taken in, he must, in the end, have his eyes opened to his folly.

FLAT-CATCHING. Simple persons, who are easily imposed upon, who believe any story that is told to them. Cant.

FLAT-MOVE. Want of judgement. Cant.

FLATTS. Cards. Cant.

FLAWD. Drunk.

FLAYBOTTOMIST. A bum-brusher, or schoolmaster.

FOREST OF DEBT. Payment of debts. Oxf. Univ. cant.

FORE. A pickpocket. Let us fork him; let us pick his pocket. "The newest and most dexterous way, which is to thrust the fingers strait, stiff, open, and very quick, into the pocket, and so closing them, hook what can be held between them." N.B. This was taken from a book written many years ago; doubtless, the art of picking pockets, like all others, must have been much improved since that time.

FORKS. The two fore-fingers of the hand; to put your forks down is to pick a pocket.

FORLORN HOPE. A gamester's last stake.

FORTUNE HUNTERS. Indigent men seeking to enrich themselves by marrying women of fortune.

FORTUNE TELLER, or CUNNING MAN. A judge who tells every prisoner his fortune, lot, or doom. To go before the fortune-teller, lambskin man, or conjuror; to be tried at an assize. See LAMBSKIN MEN.

FOSF, or PHOSS. A phosphorus bottle used by crackmen to obtain a light.

FOUL. To foul a plate with a man; to take dinner with him.

FOUL-MOUTHED. Abusive.

FOUNDLING. A child dropped in the street, and found and educated at the parish expense.

FOUR BELLS AT NIGHT. Ten o'clock. See term

FOUSIL. The name of a public house where the Eccentrics assemble, in May's Buildings, St. Martin's Lane.

FOX. A sharp cunning fellow: also, an old term for a sword, probably a rusty one, or else from its being stained with blood; some say this name alluded to certain swords of remarkable good temper, or metal, marked with the figure of a fox, probably the sign, or rebus, of the maker.

FOX'S PAW. The vulgar pronunciation of the French words faux pas. He made a confounded fox's paw.

FOXED. Intoxicated.

FOXKY. Rank, stinking.

FOXING A BOOT. Mending the boot by capping it.

FOYST. A pick-pocket, cheat, or rogue. See WOTTON'S GANG.

F R I

- FOYST. To pick a pocket.
- FOYSTED IN. Words or passages surreptitiously interpolated or inserted into a book or writing.
- FRATERS. Vagabonds who beg with sham patents, or briefs, for hospitals, fires, inundations, &c.
- FREE. Free of fumbler's hall; a saying of one who cannot get his wife with child.
- FREE AND EASY. Singing clubs in London are denominated free and easy; i. e. where persons sing any songs they think proper, without any control from the chairman; and, also, where every individual is welcome, from the duke to the chimney-sweeper, so that he contributes to the plate: an introduction is not required.
- FREE AND EASY JOHNS. A society which meet at the Hole-in-the-Wall, Fleet-street, to tipple porter and sing bawdry.
- FREE BOOTERS. Lawless robbers and plunderers; originally, soldiers who served without pay, for the privilege of plundering the enemy.
- FREEHOLDER. He whose wife accompanies him to the ale-house.
- FREEMAN'S QUAY. Free of expense. To lish at freeman's quay; to drink at another's cost.
- FRENCH CREAM. Brandy; so called by the old tabbies and dowagers when drank in their tea.
- FRENCH DISEASE. The delicate disease, said to have been imported from France. French gout; the same. He suffered by a blow over the snout with a French faggot-stick; i. e. he lost his nose by the pox.
- FRENCH LEAVE. To take French leave; to go off without taking leave of the company; a saying frequently applied to persons who have ran away from their creditors.
- FRESHMAN. One just entered a member of the university.
- FRESH MILK. Cambridge new comers to the university.
- FRESHWATER BAY. Alludes to freshmen; a name conferred on novices in the university. Oxf. cant.
- FRIBBLE. An effeminate fop; a name borrowed from a celebrated character of that kind, in the farce of "Miss in her Teens," written by Mr. Garrick.
- FRIDAY-FACE. A dismal countenance. Before, and even long after the Reformation, Friday was a day of abstinence, or jour maigre. Immediately after the restoration of king Charles II. a proclamation was issued, prohibiting all publicans from dressing any suppers on a Friday.
- FRIG PIG. A trifling, fiddle-faddle fellow.
- FRIGATE. A well-rigged frigate; a well-dressed wench.
- FRISK. To dance the paddington-frisk; to be hanged.
- FRISK. Used by thieves to signify searching a person whom they have robbed. B—t his eyes! frisk him. To frisk a cly; to pick a pocket. Cant.

F U S

FROE, or VROE. A woman, wife, or mistress. Brush to your froe, or blossom, and wheedle her for crop; run to your mistress, and sooth and coax her for some money. Dutch.

FROGLANDER. A Dutchman.

FROG'S WINE. Gin.

FROSTY FACE. One pitted with the small pox.

FRUMMAGEMMED. Choaked, strangled, suffocated, or hanged. Cant.

FUDDLE. Drunk. This is rum fuddle; this is excellent tippie or drink. Fuddle; drunk. Fuddle cap; a drunkard.

FUDGE. Nonsense.

FULHAMS. Loaded dice are called high and low men, or high and low fulhams, by Ben Jonson and other writers of his time; either because they were made at Fulham, or from that place being the resort of sharpers.

FULLER'S EARTH. Gin and bitters, a favourite liquor of the celebrated GEORGE HEAD, in whom this slang term originated.

FULL OF EMPTINESS. Jocular term for empty.

FULL MARCH. The Scotch greys are in full march by the crown-office; the lice are crawling down his head.

FUMBLER. An old or impotent man. To fumble, also, means to go awkwardly about any work or manual operation.

FUN. A cheat or trick. Do you think to fun me out of it? Do you think to cheat me? also, the breech, from being the abbreviation of fundament; I'll kick your fun. Cant.

FUNK. To use an unfair motion of the hand in plumping at law. Schoolboy's term.

FUNK. To smoke; figuratively, to smoke or stink through fear. I was in a cursed funk.

"Up he rose in a funk, lapp'd a toothful of brandy,
And to it again," &c.

Vide Crib's Memorial.

To funk the cobbler; a schoolboy's trick, performed with asafetida and cotton, which are stuffed into a pipe: the cotton being lighted, and the bowl of the pipe covered with a coarse handkerchief, the smoke is blown out, at the small end, through the crannies of a cobbler's stall.

FURMEN. Aldermen.

FURMITY, or FROMENTY. Wheat boiled up to a jelly. To simmer like a furmity kettle; to smile or look merry about the gills.

GABBY. A foolish fellow.

GAFF. A fair. The drop coves maced the joskins at the gaff; the ring droppers cheated the countrymen at the fair.

GAFF. To game by tossing up halfpence.

GAG. An instrument, used chiefly by housebreakers and thieves, for propping open the mouth of a person robbed, thereby to prevent his calling out for assistance.

GAGE, or FOGUS. A pipe of tobacco.

GAGGERS. Players. Cant.

GAGGERS. High and low. Cheats who, by sham pretences, and wonderful stories of their sufferings, impose on the credulity of well meaning people. See RUM GAGGER.

GALANEY. A fowl. Cant.

GALIMAUFREY. A bodge-podge made up of the remains and scraps of the larder.

GALL. His gall is not yet broken; a saying used in prisons of a man just brought in, who appears dejected.

GALLEY. Building the galley; a game formerly used at sea, in order to put a trick upon a landsman or fresh-water sailor. It being agreed to play at that game, one sailor personates the builder, and another the merchant or contractor: the builder first begins by laying the keel, which consists of a number of men laid all along on their backs, one after another, that is, head to foot; he next puts in the ribs or knees, by making a number of men sit feet to feet, at right angles to, and on each side of, the keel; he now, fixing on the person intended to be the object of the joke, observes he is a fierce-looking fellow, and fit for the lion; he, accordingly, places him at the head, his arms being held or locked in by the two persons next to him, representing the ribs. After several other dispositions, the builder delivers over the galley to the contractor, as complete; but he, among other faults and objections, observes the lion is not gilt, on which the builder, or one of his assistants, runs to the head, and dipping a mop in excrement, thrusts it into the face of the lion.

G A M

GALLIED. Hurried, vexed, over-fatigued, perhaps, like a galley-slave.

GALLIGASKINS. Breeches.

GALLIPOT. A nickname for an apothecary.

GALLOPER. A blood-horse, a hunter. The toby gill clapped his bleeders to his galloper, and tipped the traps the double; the highwayman spurred his horse, and got away from the officers.

GALLORE, or GOLORE. Plenty.

GALLOWS BIRD. A thief, or pickpocket; also, one that associates with them.

GAMBADOES. Leathern cases of stiff leather, used in Devonshire instead of boots: they are fastened to the saddle, and admit the leg, shoe, and all: the name was at first jocularly given.

GAMBLER. A sharper, or tricking gamester.

GAMES. Thin, ill-shaped legs. A corruption of the French word jambes. Farcy gambs, sore or swelled legs.

GAME. Any mode of robbing. The toby is now a queer game; to rob on the highway is now a bad mode of acting. This observation is frequently made by thieves; the roads being now so well guarded by the horse-patrol, and gentlemen travel with little cash in their pockets.

GAME. Bubbles or pigeons drawn in to be cheated: also, at Cyprian temples, lewd women. Mother, have you any game? mother, have you any girls? To die game; to suffer at the gallows without showing any signs of fear or repentance. Game pullet, a young whore, or forward girl in the way of becoming one.

GAME. Among pugilists, courage of the highest order. He is a game man; he will not give up the contest, until nature forsakes him. He will not say, NO!

GAMMON. To humbug, to deceive, to tell lies. What rum gammon the old file pitched to the flat; how finely the knowing old fellow humbugged the fool. Any assertion which is not strictly true, or professions believed to be insincere; as, I believe you're gammoning, or, that's all gammon, meaning, you are no doubt jesting with me, or, that's all a farce. To gammon a person, is to amuse him with false assurances, to praise, or flatter him, in order to obtain some particular end: to gammon a man to any act, is to persuade him to it by artful language or pretence: to gammon a shop-keeper, &c. is to engage his attention to your discourse, while your accomplice is executing some preconcerted plan of depredation upon his property: a thief detected in a house, which he has entered, upon the meak, for the purpose of robbing it, will endeavour, by some gammoning story, to account for his intrusion, and to get off with a good grace: a man, who is ready at invention, and has always a flow of plausible language on these occasions, is said to be a prime gammoner: to gammon lushy or queer, is to pretend drunkenness or sickness, for some private end.

GAMMON AND PATTEN. Commonplace talk of any profession; as, the gammon and patter of a horse-dealer, sailor, &c.

GAMMON THE TWELVE. A man, who has been tried by a criminal court, and, by a plausible defence, has induced the jury to acquit him, or to banish the capital part of the charge, and so save his life, is said, by his associates, to have gammoned the twelve in prime twig, alluding to the number of jurymen.

GAN. The mouth or lips. Cant.

GANDER MONTH. That month in which a man's wife lies in: wherefore, during that time, husbands plead a sort of indulgence in matters of gallantry.

GANG. A company of men, a body of sailors, a knot of thieves, pickpockets, &c. A gang of sheep-trotters; the four feet of a sheep.

GAOLER'S COACH. A hurdle: traitors being usually conveyed from the gaol to the place of execution on a hurdle or sledge.

GAPESEED. Sights, any thing to feed the eye. I am come abroad for a little gapeseed.

GAPSTOPPER. A whoremaster.

GARDEN. To put a person in the garden, in the hole, in the bucket, or in the well, are synonymous phrases, signifying to defraud him of his due share of the booty by embezzling a part of the property, or the money it is fenced for; this phrase also applies generally to defrauding any one, with whom you are confidentially connected, of what is justly his due.

GARNISH. An entrance-fee demanded by the old prisoners of one just committed to gaol.

GARRET, or UPPER STORY. The head. His garret, or upper story is empty, or unfurnished; i. e. he has no brains, he is a fool: it also signifies the job pocket.

GARRET ELECTION. A ludicrous ceremony, practised every new parliament: it consists of a mock election of two members to represent the borough of Garret (a few straggling cottages, near Wandsworth, in Surrey). The qualification of a voter is, having enjoyed a woman, in the open air, within that district: the candidates are commonly fellows of low humour, who dress themselves up in a ridiculous manner. As this brings a prodigious concourse of people to Wandsworth, the publicans of that place jointly contribute to the expense, which is sometimes considerable.

G I B

GAWKEY. A tall, thin, awkward young man or woman.

GRACH. A thief. Cant.

GEE. It won't gee; it won't hit or do, it does not suit or fit.

GELDING. An eunuch.

GELT. Money. German. Also, castrated.

GENTLEMAN COMMONER. An empty bottle. An university joke; gentlemen commoners not being deemed over full of learning.

GENTLEMAN'S COMPANION. A louse.

GENTLEMAN'S MASTER. A highway robber; because he makes a gentleman obey his commands, i. e. stand and deliver.

GENTLEMAN OF THREE INS. In debt, in gaol, and in danger of remaining there for life: or, in gaol, indicted, and in danger of being hanged in chains.

GENTLEMAN OF THREE OUTS. That is, without money, without wit, and without manners; some add another out; i. e. without credit.

GENTRY COVE. A gentleman. Cant.

GENTRY COVE KEN. A gentleman's house. Cant.

GENTRY MORT. A gentlewoman.

GEORGE. Yellow George; a guinea. Brown George; an ammunition loaf.

GERMAN DUCK. Half a sheep's head boiled with onions.

GET. One of his get; one of his offspring or begetting.

GIB. A face. Sea term.

GIBBERISH. The cant language of thieves and gypsies, called Pedlars' French, and St. Giles's Greek. See ST. GILES'S GREEK. Also, the mystic language of Geber, used by chymists. Gibberish likewise means a sort of disguised language, formed by inserting any consonant between each syllable of an English word; in which case, it is called the gibberish of the letter inserted: if F, it is the F gibberish; if G, the G gibberish; as in the sentence, How do you do? Howg dog youg dog?

GIBBE. A horse that shrinks from the collar, and will not draw.

GIB CAT. A northern name for a he-cat, there commonly called Gilbert. As melancholy as a gib cat; as melancholy as a he-cat who has been caterwauling, whence they always return scratched, hungry, and out of spirits.

G I N

Aristotle says, Omne animal post coitum est triste; to which an anonymous author has given the following exception, preter gallam gallinaceam, et sacerdotem gratis fornicantem.

GIBLETS. To join giblets; said of a man and woman who cohabit as husband and wife without being married: also, to copulate.

GIFTS. Small white specks under the finger nails, said to portend gifts or presents. A stingy man is said to be as full of gifts as a brazen horse of his farts.

GIFT OF THE GAB. A facility of speech.

GIGG. A nose. Snitchel his gigg; fillip his nose. Grunter's gigg; a hog's snout. Gigg is also a high one-horse chaise. To gigg a Smithfield hank; to hamstring an over-drove ox, vulgarly called a mad bullock.

GIGGER. A latch, or door. Dub the gigger; open the door. Gigger dubber; the turnkey of a gaol.

GIGGLE. To suppress a laugh. Giggles; wanton women.

GILES'S, or ST. GILES'S BREED. Fat, ragged, and saucy. Newton and Dyot streets, the grand head-quarters of most of the thieves and pickpockets about London, are in St. Giles's parish. St. Giles's Greek, the cant language, called the Slang, Pedlars' French, and Flash.

GELFLURT. A proud mix; a vain, capricious woman.

GILL. The abbreviation of Gillian, figuratively used for woman. Every jack has his gill, i. e. every jack has his gillian, or female mate. It is also a word used by way of variation, similar to cove, glook, or gory; but generally coupled to some other descriptive term, as a flash-gill, toby-gill, &c.

GILLS. The cheeks. To look rosy about the gills; to have a fresh complexion. To look merry about the gills; to appear cheerful.

GILT, or RUM DUBBER. A thief who picks locks; so called from the gilt or picklock key; many of them are so expert, that, from the lock of a church door to that of the smallest cabinet, they will find means to open it: these go into reputable public-houses, where, pretending business, they contrive to get into private rooms, up stairs, where they open any bureaux or trunks they happen to find there.

GIMBEET-EYED. Squinting, either in man or woman.

GIMCRACK, or JIMCRACK. A spruce wench: a gimcrack also means a person who has a turn for mechanical contrivances.

GINGERBREAD. A cake made of treacle, flour, and grated ginger: also, money. He has the gingerbread; he is rich.

G L I

GINGERBREAD WORK. Gilding and carving; these terms are particularly applied, by seamen on board Newcastle colliers, to the decorations of the sterns and quarters of West-Indiamen, which they have the greatest pleasure in defacing.

GINGERLY. Softly, gently, tenderly. To go gingerly to work; to attempt a thing gently or cautiously.

GINGER-PATED, or GINGER-HACKLED. Red-haired: a term borrowed from the cockpit, where red cocks are called gingers.

GINNY. An instrument to lift up a grate, in order to steal what is in the window. Cant.

GIN SPINNER. A distiller.

GIP. From your, a wolf. A servant at college.

GIVE IT TO. To rob or defraud any place or person; as, I gave it to him for his reader, I robbed him of his pocket-book. What suit did you give it them upon? In what manner, or by what means, did you effect your purpose? also, to impose upon a person's credulity by telling him a string of falsehoods; or to take any unfair advantage of another's inadvertence or unsuspecting temper, on any occasion; in either case, the party at last dropping down, that is, detecting your imposition, will say, I believe you have been giving it to me nicely all this while.

GIVE LIP TO. To chatter, blow up. Sea term.

GIVER. A good boxer. Pugilistic phrase.

GIZZARD. To grumble in the gizzard; to be secretly displeased.

GLASS EYES. A nick name for one wearing spectacles.

- GUMMY. Clumsy; particularly applied to the ankles of men or women, and the legs of horses.
- GUMPTION, or RUM GUMPTION. Docility, comprehension, and capacity.
- GUN. He is in the gun; he is drunk: perhaps, from an allusion to a vessel called a gun, used for ale in the universities.
- GUN. To gun, among flash people, is to be noticed. Do not you see we are gunned? an expression used by thieves when they think they are being watched.
- GUNDIGUTS. A fat, puffy fellow.
- GUNNER'S DAUGHTER. To kiss the gunner's daughter; to be tied to a gun and flogged on the posteriors: a mode of punishing boys on board a ship of war.
- GUNPOWDER. An old woman. Cant.
- GUTFOUNDERED. Exceeding hungry.
- GUTS. My great guts are ready to eat my little ones; my guts begin to think my throat's cut; my guts curse my teeth: all expressions signifying the party is extremely hungry.
- GUTS AND GARBAGE. A very fat man or woman. More guts than brains; a silly fellow. He has plenty of guts, but no bowels; said of a hard, merciless, or unfeeling person.
- GUT SCRAPER, or TORMENTOR OF CATGUT. A fiddler.
- GUTTER-LANE. The throat, the swallow, the red lane. See RED LANE.
- GUTTING A QUART POT. Taking out the lining of it; i. e. drinking it off. Gutting an oyster; eating it. Gutting a house; clearing it of its furniture. See POULTERER.
- GUY. A dark lantern; in allusion to Guy Faux, the principal actor in the gunpowder plot. Stow the guy; conceal the lantern.

G Y P

GUZZLE. Liquor. To guzzle; to drink greedily.

GUZZLE GUTS. One greedy of liquor.

GYBE, or JYBE. Any writing or pass with a seal.

GYBING. Jeering, or ridiculing.

GYLES, or GILES. Hopping Giles; a nick-name for a lame person: St. Giles was the tutelar saint of cripples.

GYP. A college runner or errand-boy at Cambridge, called at Oxford a scout. See SCOUT.

GYPSIES. A set of vagrants, who, to the great disgrace of our police, are suffered to wander about the country. They pretend that they derive their origin from the ancient Egyptians, who were famous for their knowledge in astronomy and other sciences; and, under the pretence of fortune-telling, find means to rob or defraud the ignorant and superstitious. To colour their impostures, they artificially discolour their faces, and speak a kind of gibberish peculiar to themselves. They rove up and down the country in large companies, to the great terror of the farmers, from whose geese, turkeys, and fowls, they take very considerable contributions.

When a fresh recruit is admitted into the fraternity, he is to take the following oath, administered by the principal maunder, after going through the annexed forms:—

First, a new name is given to him, by which he is ever after to be called; then, standing up in the middle of the assembly, and directing his face to the dimber-damber, or principal man of the gang, he repeats the following oath, which is dictated to him by some experienced member of the fraternity:

I, Crank Cuffin, do swear to be a true brother, and that I will, in all things, obey the commands of the great tawney prince, and keep his counsel, and not divulge the secrets of my brethren.

I will never leave nor forsake the company, but observe and keep all the times of appointment, either by day or by night, in every place whatever.

I will not teach any one to cant, nor will I disclose any of our mysteries to them.

I will take my prince's part against all that shall oppose him, or any of us, according to the utmost of my ability; nor will I suffer him, or any one belonging to us, to be abused by any strange abrams, rufflers, hookers, pailliards, swaddler's, Irish toyles, swigmen, whip jacks, jarkmen, bawdy baskets, dommerars, clapper dogeons, patricoes, or curtals; but will defend him, or them, as much as I can, against all other outliers whatever. I will not conceal aught I win out of libkins or from the ruffians, but will preserve it for the use of the company. Lastly, I will cleave to my doxy wap stiffly, and will bring her duds, marjery praters, goblers, grunting cheats, or tibs of the buttery, or any thing else I can come at, as winnings for her weppings.

The canters have, it seems, a tradition, that, from the three first articles of this oath, the first founders of a certain boastful, worshipful fraternity (who pretend to derive their origin from the earliest times) borrowed both the hint and form of their establishment; and that their pretended derivation from the first Adam is a forgery, it being only from the first Adam Tiler: See ADAM TILER. At the admission of a new brother, a general stock is raised for booze, or drink, to make themselves merry on the occasion. As for peckage, or eatables, they can procure without money; for, while some are sent to break the ruffians, or woods and bushes, for firing, others are detached to filch geese, chickens, hens, ducks (or mallards), and pigs. Their mortars are their butchers, who presently make bloody work with what living things are brought them; and having made holes in the ground under some remote hedge, in an obscure place, they make a fire, and boil or broil their food; and, when it is enough, fall to work, tooth and nail; and having eaten more like beasts than men, they drink more like swine than human creatures, entertaining one another all the time with songs in the canting dialect.

As they live, so they lie, together, promiscuously, and know not how to claim a property either in their goods or children; and this general interest ties them more firmly together than if all their rags were twisted into ropes, to bind them indissolubly from a separation; which detestable union is farther consolidated by the above oath.

They stroll up and down all summer-time in droves, and dexterously pick pockets, while they are telling of fortunes; and the money, rings, silver thimbles, &c. which they get, are instantly conveyed, from one hand to another, till the remotest person of the gang (who is not suspected, because they come not near the person robbed) gets possession of it; so that, in the strictest search, it is impossible to recover it; while the wretches, with imprecations, oaths, and protestations, disclaim the thievery.

That by which they are said to get the most money is, when young gentlewomen of good families and reputation have happened to be with child before marriage, a round sum is often bestowed among the gypsies, for some one mort to take the child; and, as that is never heard of more by the true mother and family, so the disgrace is kept concealed from the world; and, if the child lives, it never knows its parents.

H

HABERDASHER OF PRONOUNS. A schoolmaster, or usher.
HACKNEY WRITER. One who writes for attornies or book-sellers.

HADDOCK. A purse. A haddock stuffed with beans; i. e. a purse full of gold.

HAIR SPLITTER. A thing with use without ornament.

HALBERT. A weapon carried by a sergeant of foot. To get a halbert; to be appointed a sergeant. To be brought to the halberts; to be flogged à la militaire: soldiers of the infantry, when flogged, being commonly tied to three halberts, set up in a triangle, with a fourth fastened across them. He carries the halbert in his face; a saying of one promoted from a sergeant to a commissioned officer.

HALF A BEAN. Half a guinea. Cant.

HALF A HOG. Sixpence.

HALF FLASH AND HALF FOOLISH. This phrase is applied, in a sarcastic manner, to those persons who have a smattering of the cant language, and also pretend to a knowledge of life, which they do not possess. The family of the half flash and half foolish are very numerous in London.

HALF SEAS OVER. Almost drunk.

HAMLET. A high constable. Cant.

HAMMERSMITH. Milling: a person that has received a severe beating is jocosely said to have been at Hammersmith.

HAMS, or HAMCASES. Breeches.

HAND. A sailor. We lost a hand; we lost a sailor. Bear a hand; make haste. Hand to fist; opposite: the same as tête-à-tête, or cheek by jowl.

HAND BASKET PORTION. A woman whose husband receives frequent presents from her father or family is said to have a hand-basket portion.

HANDLE. To know how to handle one's fists; to be skilful in the art of boxing. The cove flashes a rare handle to his physog; the fellow has a large nose.

HANDSOME. He is a handsome-bodied man in the face; a jeering commendation of an ugly fellow. Handsome is that handsome does; a proverb frequently cited by ugly women.

HANG AN A-SE. To hang back, to hesitate.

H A R

HANGER ON. A dependant.

HANG GALLOW'S LOOK. A thievish or villanous appearance.

HANG IT ON. Purposely to delay or protract the performance of any task or service you have undertaken, by dallying, and making as slow a progress as possible, either from natural indolence, or to answer some private end of your own. To hang it on with a woman, is to form a temporary connexion with her; to cohabit or keep company with her without marriage.

HANG IT UP. Score it up; speaking of a reckoning.

HANGMAN'S WAGES. Thirteen pence halfpenny; which, according to the vulgar tradition, was thus allotted: one shilling for the executioner, and three halfpence for the rope. N. B. This refers to former times; the hangmen of the present day having, like other artificers, raised their prices. The true state of this matter is, that a Scottish mark was the fee allowed for an execution, and the value of that piece was settled, by a proclamation of James I. at thirteen pence halfpenny.

HANG OUT. The traps scavey where we hang out; the officers know where we live.

HANK. He has a hank on him; i. e. an ascendancy over him, or a hold upon him. To have a person at a good hank, is to have made any contract with him very advantageous to yourself; or to be able, from some prior cause, to command or use him just as you please; to have the benefit of his purse or other services, in fact, upon your own terms. A Smithfield hank; an ox rendered furious by over-driving and barbarous treatment. See BULL HANK.

HANK. A spell or cessation from any work or duty, on the score of indisposition, or some other pretence.

HANKER. To hanker after any thing; to have a longing after or for it.

HANS IN KELDER. Jack in the cellar; i. e. the child in the womb: a health frequently drank to breeding women or their husbands.

HATCHES. Under the hatches ; in trouble, distress, or debt.

HATCHET FACE. A long, thin face.

HATCHWAY. The mouth. Sea term.

HAUL YOUR WIND. To get clear. Sea term.

HAVIL. A sheep. Cant.

HAWK. Ware hawk ; the word to look sharp, a bye-word when a bailiff passes. Hawk also signifies a sharper, in opposition to pigeon. See PIGEON. See WARE HAWK.

HAZEL GILD. To beat any one with a hazel stick.

HEAD CULLY OF THE PASS, or PASSAGE BANK. The top tilter of that gang throughout the whole army, who demands and receives contribution from all the pass banks in the camp.

HEAD RAILS. Teeth. Sea phrase.

HEARING CHEATS. Ears. Cant.

HEART'S EASE. Gin.

HEARTY CHOAK. He will have a hearty choak and caper sauce for breakfast, i. e. he will be hanged.

HEATHEN PHILOSOPHER. One whose breech may be seen through his pocket-hole : this saying arose from the old philosophers, many of whom despised the vanity of dress to such a point as often to fall into the opposite extreme.

HEAVE. To rob. To heave a case ; to rob a house. To heave a bough ; to rob a booth. Cant.

HEAVER. The breast. Cant.

HEAVERS. Thieves who make it their business to steal tradesmen's shop-books. Cant.

HEAVY WET. Beer. Cant. Thus, in "The Ale-house Keeper's Lamentation," in Randall's Scrap Book, the bard says,

" My cups were of the deepest mould
That I could bone or get,
And all the streams that in them roll'd
Were gin or heavy wet."

H E N

HECTOR. A bully, a swaggering coward. To hector; to bully: probably, from such persons affecting the valour of Hector, the Trojan hero.

HEDGE. To make a hedge; to secure a bet or wager laid on one side, by taking the odds on the other; so that, let what will happen, a certain gain is secured, or hedged in, by the person who takes this precaution; who is then said to be on velvet.

HEDGE ALEHOUSE. A small, obscure alehouse.

HEDGE CREEPER. A robber of hedges.

HEDGE PRIEST. An illiterate, unbeneficed curate, a parson.

HEDGE WHORE. An itinerant harlot, who bilks the bagnios and bawdy-houses, by disposing of her favours on the way-side, under a hedge; a low beggarly prostitute.

HEELS. To be laid by the heels; to be confined or put in prison. Out at heels; worn or diminished: his estate or affairs are out at heels. To turn up his heels; to turn up the knave of trumps at the game of all-fours.

HEEL TAP. A peg in the heel of a shoe, taken out when it is finished. A person leaving any liquor in his glass is frequently called upon by the toast-master to take off his heel tap.

HELL. A tailor's repository for his stolen goods, called cabbage. See CABBAGE. Little hell; a small, dark, covered passage, leading from London-wall to Bell-alley.

HELL-BORN BABE. A lewd, graceless youth, one naturally of a wicked disposition.

HELL CAT. A termagant, a vixen, a furious scolding woman. See TERMAGANT and VIXEN.

HELL FIRE DICK. The driver of the Cambridge Telegraph. He died lately (1822). He was the favourite companion of the University fashionables, and the only tutor to whose precepts they attended.

HELL HOUND. A wicked abandoned fellow.

HELL, or HELLS. Gambling-houses at the West End of the town. Cant.

HELTER SKELTER. To run helter skelter, hand over head, in defiance of order.

HEMP. Young hemp; an appellation for a graceless boy.

HEMPEN FEVER. A man who was hanged is said to have died of a hempen fever; and, in Dorsetshire, to have been stabbed with a Bridport dagger; Bridport being a place famous for manufacturing hemp into cords.

HEMPEN WIDOW. One whose husband was hanged.

HEN. A woman. A cock and hen club; a club composed of men and women.

HEN-HEARTED. Cowardly.

HEN HOUSE. A house where the woman rules; called also a she house, and hen frigate: the latter, a-sea phrase, originally applied to a ship, the captain of which had his wife on board, supposed to command him.

H I G

HENPECKED. A husband governed by his wife, is said to be henpecked.

HERE AND THEREIAN. One who has no settled place of residence.

HERRING. The devil a barrel the better herring; all equally bad.

HERRING-GUTTED. Thin as a shotten herring.

HERRING-POND. The sea. To cross the herring-pond at the king's expense; to be transported.

HERTFORDSHIRE KINDNESS. Drinking twice to the same person.

HICK. A country hick; an ignorant clown. Cant.

HICKEY. Tipsey, quasi, hiccoughing.

HIDE AND SEEK. A childish game. He plays at hide and seek; a saying of one who is in fear of being arrested for debt, or apprehended for some crime, and therefore does not choose to appear in public, but secretly skulks up and down. See SKULK.

HIDEBOUND. Stingy, hard of delivery; a poet, poor in invention, is said to have a hidebound muse.

HIGGLEDY PIGGLEDY. Confusedly mixed.

HIGH AND DRY. Cast on shore. Cant.

HIGH EATING. To eat skylarks in a garret.

HIGH FLYERS. Dressy cyprians, such as sport bear-skin muffs, embroidered pelisses, hats and feathers.

HIGHGATE. Sworn at Highgate: a ridiculous custom formerly prevailed at the public-houses in Highgate, to administer a ludicrous oath to all travellers, of the middling rank, who stopped there. The party was sworn on a pair of horns, fastened on a stick: the substance of the oath was, never to kiss the maid when he could kiss the mistress, never to drink small-beer when he could get strong, with many other injunctions of the like kind; to all which was added the saving clause of "unless you like it best." The person administering the oath was always to be called father by the juror; and he, in return, was to style him son, under the penalty of a bottle.

HIGH JINKS. A gambler at dice, who, having a strong head, drinks to intoxicate his adversary, or pigeon. Under this head are also classed those fellows who keep Little Goes, take in insurances: also, attendants at the races, and at the E O Tables; chaps always on the look out to rob unwary countrymen at cards, &c.

HIGH LIVING. To lodge in a garret or cockloft.

HIGH PAD, or HIGH TOBY. A highwayman. Cant.

H O B

HOBbledYGEE. A pace between a walk and a run, a dog-trot.

HOBBY. Sir Posthumous's hobby ; one nice or whimsical in his clothes.

HOBBY HORSE. A man's favourite amusement, or study, is called his hobby horse : it also means a particular kind of small Irish horse ; and also a wooden one, such as is given to children.

HOBBY HORSCAL. A man who is a great keeper or rider of hobby horses ; one that is apt to be strongly attached to his systems of amusement.

HOBNAIL. A country clodhopper : from the shoes of country farmers and ploughmen being commonly stuck full of hobnails, and even often clouted, or tipped with iron. The Devil ran over his face with hobnails in his shoes ; said of one pitted with the small-pox.

HOB, or HOBbinOL. A clown.

HOB OR NOB. Will you hob or nob with me ? a question formerly in fashion at polite tables, signifying a request or challenge to drink a glass of wine with the proposer : if the party challenged answered Nob, they were to chuse whether white or red. This foolish custom is said to have originated in the days of good queen Bess, thus : when great chimnies were in fashion, there was at each corner of the hearth, or grate, a small elevated projection, called hob, and behind it a seat. In winter time the beer was placed on the hob to warm : and the cold beer was set on a small table, said to have been called the nob : so that the question, Will you have hob or nob ? seems only to have meant, Will you have warm or cold beer ? i. e. beer from the hob, or beer from the nob.

H O I

HOBSON'S CHOICE. That or none; from old Hobson, a famous carrier of Cambridge, who used to let horses to the students; but never permitted them to chuse, always allotting each man the horse he thought most proper for his manner of riding and treatment.

HOCKEY. Drunk with strong stale beer, called old hock. See HICKEY.

HOCKING, or HOUGHING. A piece of cruelty practised by the butchers of Dublin on soldiers, by cutting the tendon of Achilles; this has by law been made felony.

HOCKS. A vulgar appellation for the feet. You have left the marks of your dirty hocks on my clean stairs; a frequent complaint from a mop squeezer to a footman.

HOCUS POCUS. Nonsensical words used by jugglers, previous to their deceptions, as a kind of charm, or incantation. A celebrated writer supposes it to be a ludicrous corruption of the words hoc est corpus, used by the popish priests in consecrating the host: also, Hell Hocus is used to express drunkenness: as, he is quite hocus; he is quite drunk.

HOD. Brother Hod; a familiar name for a bricklayer's labourer: from the hod which is used for carrying bricks and mortar.

HODDY DODDY, ALL A-SE AND NO BODY. A short clumsy person, either male or female.

HODGE. An abbreviation of Roger: a general name for a country booby.

HODGE PODGE. An irregular mixture for numerous things.

HODMANDODS. Snails in their shells.

HOG. A shilling. To drive one's hogs; to snore: the noise made by some persons in snoring, being not much unlike the notes of that animal. He has brought his hogs to a fine market; a saying of any one who has been remarkably successful in his affairs, and is spoken ironically to signify the contrary. A hog in armour; an awkward or mean looking man or woman, finely dressed, is said to look like a hog in armour. To hog a horse's main; to cut it short, so that the ends of the hair stick up like hog's bristles. Jonian hogs; an appellation given to the members of St. John's College, Cambridge.

HOGGISH. Rude, unmannerly, filthy.

HOG GRUBBER. A mean stingy fellow.

HOGO. Corruption of haut goust, high taste, or flavour; commonly said of flesh somewhat tainted. It has a confounded hogo; it stinks confoundedly.

HOIST. To go upon the hoist; to get into windows accidentally left open: this is done by the assistance of a confederate, called the hoist, who leans his head against the wall, making his back a kind of step or ascent.

H O N

HOIST. The game of shop-lifting is called the hoist: a person expert at this practice is said to be a good hoist.

HOISTING. A ludicrous ceremony formerly performed on every soldier, the first time he appeared in the field after being married; it was managed thus: As soon as the regiment, or company, had grounded their arms to rest awhile, three or four men of the same company to which the bridegroom belonged, seized upon him, and putting a couple of bayonets out of the two corners of his hat, to represent horns, it was placed on his head, the back part foremost. He was then hoisted on the shoulders of two strong fellows, and carried round the arms, a drum and fife beating and playing the pioneers call, named Round Heads and Cuckolds, but, on this occasion, styled the Cuckold's March; in passing the colours he was to take off his hat: this, in some regiments, was practised by the officers on their brethren.

HOITY-TOITY. A hoity-toity wench; a giddy, thoughtless, romping, girl.

HOLBORN-HILL. To ride backwards up Holborn-hill; to go to the gallows: the way to Tyburn, the place of execution for criminals condemned in London, was up that hill. Criminals going to suffer, always ride backwards, as some conceive, to increase the ignominy, but more probably to prevent them being shocked with a distant view of the gallows; as, in amputations, surgeons conceal the instruments with which they are going to operate. The last execution at Tyburn, and, consequently, the last of this procession, was in the year 1784, since which the criminals have been executed near Newgate.

HOLIDAY. A holiday bowler; a bad bowler. Blind man's holiday; darkness, night. It is all holiday. See ALL HOLIDAY.

HOLLOW. It was quite a hollow thing; i. e. certainty, or decided business.

HOLLOW. Among epicures, meaus poultry. Nothing but hollow for dinner.

HOLY GROUND, or LAND. A well-known region of St. Giles's. An old fancy chaunt ends every verse thus:—

" For we are the boys of the Holy Ground,
And we'll dance upon nothing and turn us round."

HOLY LAMB. A thorough-paced villain. Irish.

HOLY WATER. He loves him as the Devil likes holy water; i. e. hates him mortally. Holy water, according to the Roman Catholics, having the virtue to chase away the Devil and his imps.

HONEST MAN. A term frequently used by superiors to inferiors. As honest a man as any in the cards when all the kings are out ; i. e. a knave. I dare not call thee rogue for fear of the law, said a quaker to an attorney ; but I will give thee five pounds, if thou canst find any creditable person who wilt say thou art an honest man.

HONEST WOMAN. To marry a woman with whom one has cohabited as a mistress, is termed, making an honest woman of her.

HONEY MOON. The first month after marriage. A poor honey ; a harmless, foolish, good-natured fellow. It is all honey, or all t—d, with them ; said of persons who are either in the extremity of friendship or enmity, either kissing or fighting.

HOOD-WINKED. Blindfolded by a handkerchief, or other ligature, bound over the eyes.

HOOF. To beat the hoof ; to travel on foot. He hoofed it or beat the hoof every step of the way from Chester to London.

HOOK AND SNIVEY, WITH NIX THE BUFFER. This rig consists in feeding a man and a dog for nothing, and is carried on thus : Three men, one of whom pretends to be sick and unable to eat, go to a public-house ; the two well men make a bargain with the landlord for their dinner, and when he is out of sight, feed their pretended sick companion and dog gratis.

HOOKED. Over-reached, tricked, caught : a simile taken from fishing. * * * * hooks ; fingers.

HOOKEE WALKER. An expression signifying that the story is not true, or that the thing will not occur.

HOOKERS. See ANGLERS.

HOOP. To run the hoop ; an ancient marine custom. Four or more boys, having their left hands tied fast to an iron hoop, and each of them a rope, called a nettle, in their right, being naked to the waist, wait the signal to begin : this being made by a stroke with a cat of nine tails, given by the boatswain to one of the boys, he strikes the boy before him, and every one does the same : at first, the blows are but gently administered ; but each, irritated by the strokes from the boy behind him, at length lays it on in earnest. This was anciently practised when a ship was wind-bound.

HOOP. To beat. I'll well hoop his or her barrel. I'll beat him or her soundly.

HOP. A dance. Sea term.

HOPKINS. Mr. Hopkins ; a ludicrous address to a lame or limping man, being a pun on the word hop.

HOP MERCHANT. A dancing-master. See CAPER MERCHANT.

H O R

HOP-O'-MY-THUMB. A diminutive person, man or woman. She was such a hop-o'-my-thumb, that a pigeon, sitting on her shoulder, might pick a pea out of her a-se.

HOPPER-ARSED. Having large projecting buttocks; from their resemblance to a small basket, called a hopper or hœppet, worn by husbandmen, for containing seed-corn, when they sow the land.

HOPPER DOCKERS. Shoes. Cant.

HOPPING GILES. A jeering appellation given to any person who limps, or is lame: St. Giles was the patron of cripples, lepers, &c. Churches dedicated to that saint commonly stand out of town, many of them having been chapels to hospitals. See GYLES.

HOP THE TWIG. To run away. Cant.

HORN COLIC. A temporary priapism.

HORN FAIR. An annual fair held at Charlton, in Kent, on St. Luke's day, the 18th of October. It consists of a riotous mob, who, after a printed summons dispersed through the adjacent towns, meet at Cuckold's Point, near Deptford, and march from thence, in procession, through that town and Greenwich to Charlton, with horns of different kinds upon their heads; and at the fair there are sold rams horns, and every sort of toy made of horn; even the gingerbread figures have horns. The vulgar tradition gives the following history of the origin of this fair: King John, or some other of our ancient kings, being at the palace of Eltham, in this neighbourhood, and having been out hunting one day, rambled from his company to this place, then a mean hamlet; when entering a cottage to inquire his way, he was struck with the beauty of the mistress, whom he found alone; and having prevailed over her modesty, the husband returned suddenly, surprised them together, and threatened to kill them both; the king was obliged to discover himself, and to compound for his safety by a purse of gold, and a grant of the land from this place to Cuckold's Point, besides making the husband master of the hamlet. It is added, that, in memory of this grant, and the occasion of it, this fair was established, for the sale of horns, and all sorts of goods made with that material. A sermon is preached at Charlton church on the fair day.

HORNIFIED. Cuckolded.

HORN MAD. A person extremely jealous of his wife is said to be horn mad; also, a cuckold who does not cut or breed his horns easily.

HORNS. To draw in one's horns; to retract an assertion through fear: metaphor borrowed from a snail, who, on the - apprehension of danger, draws in his horns, and retires to his shell.

H U E

JACK OF LEGS. A tall long-legged man : also, a giant said to be buried in Weston-church-yard, near Baldock, in Hertfordshire, where there are two stones fourteen feet distant, said to be the head and feet stones of his grave. This giant, says Salmon, as fame goes, lived in a wood here, and was a great robber, but a generous one ; for he plundered the rich to feed the poor. He frequently took bread for this purpose from the Baldock bakers, who, catching him at an advantage, put out his eyes, and afterwards hanged him upon a knoll in Baldock-field. At his death, he made one request, which was, that he might have his bow and arrow put into his hand, and, on shooting it off, where the arrow fell they would bury him; which being granted, the arrow fell in Weston-church-yard. Above seventy years ago, a very large thigh-bone was taken out of the church chest, where it had lain many years for a show, and was sold by the clerk to Sir John Tradescant, who, it is said, put it among the rarities of Oxford.

JACK PUDDING. The merry-andrew, zany, or jester, to a mountebank.

KERRY SECURITY. Bond, pledge, oath, and keep the money.

KETCH. Jack Ketch ; a general name for the finishers of the law, or hangmen, ever since the year 1682, when the office was filled by a famous practitioner of that name, of whom his wife said, that any bungler might put a man to death, but only her husband knew how to make a gentleman die sweetly. This officer is mentioned in Butler's Ghost, page 54, published about 1682, in the following lines :

" Till Ketch, observing he was chous'd,
And in his profits much abus'd,
In open hall the tribute dunn'd,
To do his office, or refund."

Mr. Ketch had not long been elevated to his office ; for the name of his predecessor, Dun, occurs in the former part of this poem, page 29 :

" For you yourself to act squire Dun,
Such ignominy ne'er saw the sun."

The addition of " squire," with which Mr. Dun is here dignified, is a mark that he had beheaded some state criminal for high treason ; an operation which, according to custom, for time out of mind, has always entitled the operator to that distinction. The predecessor of Dun was Gregory-Brandon, from whom the gallows was called the Gregorian tree ; by which name it is mentioned in the prologue to Mercurius Pragmaticus, tragi-comedy, acted at Paris, &c. 1641 :

K I D

" This trembles under the black rod, and he Doth fear his fate from the Gregorian-tree."

Gregory Brandon succeeded Derrick. See DERRICK.

LINK. To get a person in a line, or in a string, is to engage them in a conversation, while your confederate is robbing their person or premises. To banter or jest with a man by amusing him with false assurances or professions, is also termed stringing him, or getting him in tow. To keep any body in suspense on any subject without coming to a decision, is called keeping him in tow, in a string, or in a tow-line. To cut the line, or the string, is to put an end to the suspense in which you have kept any one, by telling him the plain truth, coming to a final decision, &c. A person, who has been telling another a long story, until he is tired, or conceives his auditor has been all the while secretly laughing at him, will say at last, I've just dropped down, you've had me in a fine string, I think it's time to cut it. On the other hand, the auditor, having the same opinion on his part, would say, Come, I believe you want to string me all night, I wish you'd cut it; meaning, conclude the story at once.

LINE OF THE OLD AUTHOR. A dram of brandy.

LINEN ARMOURERS. Tailors.

LINGO. Language. An outlandish lingo; a foreign tongue. The parlez-vous lingo; the French language.

LINK. To turn out a pocket. Cant.

LION. To tip the lion; to squeeze the nose of the party tipped flat to his face with the thumb. To show the lions and tombs; to point out the particular curiosities of any place, to act the cicerone: an allusion to Westminster Abbey, and the Tower, where the tombs and lions are shown. A lion is also a name given by the gowmsmen of Oxford to an inhabitant or visiter. It is a standing joke among the city wits to send boys and country-folks, on the first of April, to the Tower-ditch to see the lions washed.

NYP, or NIP. A half pint, a nip of ale: whence the nip-perkin, a small vessel.

NYPPER. A cut-purse: so called by one Wotton, who, in the year 1585, kept an academy for the education and perfection of pickpockets and cut-purses: his school was near Billingsgate, London. As in the dress of ancient times many people wore their purses at their girdles, cutting them was a branch of the light-fingered art, which is now lost, though the name remains. Maitland, from Stow, gives the following account of this Wotton: This man was a gentleman born, and some time a merchant of good credit, but fallen by time into decay: he kept an ale-house, near Smart's Key, near Billingsgate, afterwards, for some misdemeanour, put down. He reared up a new trade of life, and in the same house he procured all the cut-purses about the city to repair to it; there was a school-house set up to teach boys to cut purses: two devices were hung up; one was a pocket, and another was a purse; the pocket had in it certain counters, and was hung about with hawks bells, and over the top did hang a little sacring bell. The purse had silver in it; and he that could take out a counter, without noise of any of the bells, was adjudged a judicial nypper: according to their terms of art, a foyster was a pick-pocket; a nypper was a pick-purse, or cut-purse.

NYP-SHOP. The Peacock, in Gray's-Inn-lane, where Burton ale is sold in nyps.

P I G

for him. Pickle herring; the Zany or Merry Andrew of a mountebank. See JACK PUDDING.

PICKTHANK. A tale-bearer or mischief-maker.

PICKT HATCH. To go to the manor of Pickt Hatch; a cant name for some part of the town noted for bawdy-houses in Shakspeare's time, and used by him in that sense.

PICK-UP. To enter into conversation with any person in the street, for the purpose of executing some design upon his personal property. Among sharpers, it is called picking up a flat, a Johnny Raw, a muff, &c.: also, by the drop coves, who act together; but this task is allotted to the best gammoner of the party, who can spin a good yarn, likewise interesting in his conversation, who is termed the picker-up. This latter personage is generally enabled to suck the flat out of what place he comes from, when he pretends he is also a native of the same town, but left it a long time: this has the desired effect, and they adjourn to a public-house, to take a glass together as old townsmen. The rig then commences; the associates of the picker-up drop in, as it were, by accident, and appear as perfect strangers, but all join together in order to clean out the flat. The women of the town call it picking up a cull.

PICTURE-FRAME. The sheriff's picture-frame; the gallows or pillory.

PIECE. A wench. A damned good or bad piece; a girl who is more or less active and skilful in the amorous congress. Hence the (Cambridge) toast, May we never have a piece (peace) that will injure the constitution. Piece likewise means, at Cambridge, a close, or spot of ground adjacent to any of the colleges, as Clare-hall-piece, &c. The spot of ground before King's College formerly belonged to Clare-hall. While Clare-piece belonged to King's, the master of Clare-hall proposed a swop, which being refused by the provost of King's, he erected before their gates a temple of Cloacina. It will be unnecessary to say that his arguments were soon acceded to.

PIG. A police officer. A China-street pig; a Bow-street officer. Floor the pig and bolt; knock down the officer and run away.

PIG. Sixpence. A sow's baby. Pig-widgeon; a simpleton. To pig together; to lie or sleep together, two or more in a bed. Cold pig; a jocular punishment inflicted by the maid servants, or other females of the house, on persons lying over long in bed: it consists in pulling off all the bed-clothes, and leaving them to pig or lie in the cold. To buy a pig in a poke; to purchase any thing without seeing it. Pig's eyes; small eyes. Pigsnyes; the same: a vulgar term of endearment to a woman. He can have boiled pig at home; a mark of being master of his own house: an allusion to a well known poem and story. Brandy is Latin for pig and goose; an apology for drinking a dram after either.

P I N

PIGEON. A weak silly fellow easily imposed on. To pigeon; to cheat. To milk the pigeon; to attempt impossibilities, to be put to shifts for want of money. To fly a blue pigeon; to steal lead off a church.

PIGEONS. Sharpers, who, during the drawing of the lottery, wait, ready mounted, near Guildhall, and, as soon as the first two or three numbers are drawn, which they receive from a confederate on a card, ride with them full speed to some distant insurance office, before fixed on, where there is another of the gang, commonly a decent looking woman, who takes care to be at the office before the hour of drawing; to her he secretly gives the number, which she insures for a considerable sum; thus biting the biter. An obsolete trick.

PIGEON'S MILK. Boys and novices are frequently sent, on the first of April, to buy pigeon's milk.

PIG-HEADED. Obstinate.

PIG-RUNNING. A piece of game frequently practised at fairs, wakes, &c. A large pig, whose tail is cut short, and both soaped and greased, being turned out, is hunted by the young men and boys, and becomes the property of him who can catch and hold him by the tail above the height of his head.

PIKE. To run away. Pike off; run away.

PILGRIM'S SALVE. A sirreverence, human excrement.

PILL, or PEEL GARLICK. Said originally to mean one whose skin or hair had fallen off from some disease, chiefly the venereal one; but now commonly used by persons speaking of themselves: as, there stood poor Pill Garlick; i. e. there stood I.

PILLALOO. The Irish cry or howl at funerals.

PIMP. A male procurer, or cock bawd: also, a small faggot used about London for lighting fires; named from introducing the fire to the coals.

PIMPLE. The head.

PIMP WHISKIN. A top trader in pimping.

PIN. In or to a merry pin; almost drunk: an allusion to a sort of tankard, formerly used in the north, having silver pegs or pins set at equal distances from the top to the bottom: by the rules of good fellowship, every person drinking out of one of these tankards was to swallow the quantity contained between two pins; if he drank more or less, he was to continue drinking till he ended at a pin: by this means, persons, unaccustomed to measure their draughts, were obliged to drink the whole tankard. Hence, when a person was a little elevated with liquor, he was said to have drunk to a merry pin.

P I S

PIN-BASKET. The youngest child.

PINCH. To go into a tradesman's shop under the pretence of purchasing rings or other light articles, and while examining them to shift some up the sleeve of the coat: also, to ask for change for a guinea, and when the silver is received, to change some of the good shillings for bad ones; then suddenly pretending to recollect that you had sufficient silver to pay the bill, ask for the guinea again, and return the change, by which means several bad shillings are passed.

PINCHERS. Rogues who, in changing money, by dexterity of hand, frequently secrete two or three shillings out of the change of a guinea. This species of roguery is called the pinch, or pinching-lay.

PINCH-GLOAK. A man who works upon the pinch.

SH-T SACK. A dastardly fellow: also, a non-conformist. This appellation is said to have originated from the following story:—After the restoration, the laws against the non-conformists were extremely severe. They sometimes met in very obscure places: and there is a tradition that one of their congregations were assembled in a barn, the rendezvous of beggars and other vagrants, where the preacher, for want of a ladder or tub, was suspended in a sack fixed to the beam. His discourse that day being on the Last Judgement, he particularly attempted to describe the terrors of the wicked at the sounding of the trumpet, on which a trumpeter to a puppet-show, who had taken refuge in that barn, and lay hid under the straw, sounded a charge. The congregation, struck with the utmost consternation, fled in an instant from the place, leaving their affrighted teacher to shift for himself. The effects of his terror are said to have appeared at the bottom of the sack, and to have occasioned that opprobrious appellation by which the non-conformists were vulgarly distinguished.

SHOD ALL ROUND. A parson who attends a funeral is said to be shod all round, when he receives a hat-band, gloves, and scarf; many shoeings being only partial.

SPANISH, or KING OF SPAIN'S TRUMPETER. An ass when braying.

SPANK. (Whip.) To run neatly along, between a trot and gallop. The tits spanked it to town; the horses went merrily along all the way to town.

S P I

SPANK is, among the thieves, to break a pane of glass in a shop-window, and make a sudden snatch at some article of value, having previously tied the shop-door with a strong cord on the outside, so as to prevent any pursuit, or the shopman from getting out till you have had full time to escape with the booty.

SPANKING. Large.

SPANKS, or SPANKERS. Money: also, blows with the open hand.

SPARK. A spruce, trim, or smart fellow. A man that is always thirsty, is said to have a spark in his throat.

SPARKING BLOWS. Blows given by cocks before they close, or, as the term is, mouth it: used figuratively for words previous to a quarrel.

SPARKISH. Fine; gay.

SPARROW. Mumbling a sparrow; a cruel sport, frequently practised at wakes and fairs: for a small premium, a booby having his hands tied behind him, has the wing of a cock-sparrow put into his mouth; with this hold, without any other assistance than the motion of his lips, he is to get the sparrow's head into his mouth; on attempting to do which, the bird defends itself surprisingly, frequently pecking the mumblor till his lips are covered with blood, and he is obliged to desist: to prevent the bird from getting away, he is fastened by a string to a button of the booby's coat.

SPARROW-MOUTHED. Wide-mouthed, like the mouth of a sparrow: it is said of such persons, that they do not hold their mouths by lease, but have it from year to year; i.e. from ear to ear. One whose mouth cannot be enlarged without removing their ears, and who, when they yawn, have their heads half off.

SPATCH COCK. [Abbreviation of despatch cock.] A hen just killed from the roost, or yard, and immediately skinned, split, and broiled: an Irish dish upon any sudden occasion.

SPLIT CROW. The sign of the spread eagle, which being represented with two heads on one neck, gives it somewhat the appearance of being split.

SPLIT-CAUSE. A lawyer.

SPLIT FIG. A grocer

SPOIL IRON. The nick-name for a smith.

SPOIL IT. To throw some obstacle in the way of any project or undertaking, so as to cause its failure, is termed spoiling it. In like manner, to prevent another person from succeeding in his object, either by a wilful obstruction, or by some act of imprudence on your part, subjects you to the charge of having spoiled him. Speaking of some particular species of fraud or robbery, which, after a long series of success, is now become stale or impracticable from the public being guarded against it, the family will say, that game is spoiled at last. So having attempted the robbery of any particular house or shop, and by miscarrying caused such an alarm as to render a second attempt dangerous or impolitic, they will say, that place is spoiled, it is useless to try it on any more.

SPOIL PUDDING. A parson who preaches long sermons, keeping his congregation in church till the puddings are overdone.

SPUNGE. A thirsty fellow, a great drinker. To sponge; to eat and drink at another's cost. Spunging-house; a bailiff's lock-up-house, or repository, to which persons arrested are taken till they find bail, or have spent all their money: a house where every species of fraud and extortion is practised under the protection of the law.

SPUNK. Rotten touchwood, or a kind of fungus prepared for tinder; figuratively, spirit, courage.

SPOON HAND. The right hand.

SPOONY. Foolish, half-witted, nonsensical; a man who has been drinking till he becomes disgusting by his very ridiculous behaviour, is said to be spoony drunk ; and from hence it is usual to call a very prating shallow fellow, a rank spoon.

S Q U

SPORT. To exhibit; as Jack Jehu sported a new gig yesterday, I shall sport a new suit next week. To sport or flash one's ivories; to show one's teeth. To sport timber; to keep one's outside door shut: this term is used in the inns of court to signify denying one's self. N.B. The word sport was in great vogue in the years 1783 and 1784.

SPOUT. To pledge any property at a pawnbroker's is termed spouting it, or shoving it up the spout.

SPREE. A frolic. Fun. A drinking bout. A party of pleasure.

SPRING-ANKLE WAREHOUSE. Newgate; any gaol. Irish.

SQUAB. A fat man or woman; from their likeness to a well-stuffed couch, called also a squab. A new-hatched chicken.

SQUARE. All fair, upright, and honest, practices are called the square, in opposition to the cross. Any thing you have bought or acquired honestly is termed a square article; and any transaction which is fairly and equitably conducted is said to be a square concern. A tradesman, or other person, who is considered by the world to be an honest man, and who is unacquainted with family people, and their system of operation, is, by the latter, emphatically styled a square cove: whereas an old thief who has acquired an independence, and now confines himself to square practices, is called, by his old palls, a flash cove, who has tyed up priggings. See CROSS and FLAT. In making a bargain or contract, any overture considered to be really fair and reasonable, is declared to be a square thing, or to be upon the square. To be upon the square with any person is to have mutually settled all accounts between you both up to that moment. To threaten another that you will be upon the square with him some time, signifies that you will be even with him for some supposed injury, &c.

SQUARE CRIB. A respectable house, of good repute, whose inmates, their mode of life and connexions, are all perfectly on the square. See CROSS CRIB.

S T A

SQUARE TOES. An old man: square-toed shoes were anciently worn in common, and long retained by old men.

SQUIRE OF ALSATIA. A weak profligate spendthrift, the squire of the company; one who pays the whole reckoning, or treats the company, is called standing squire.

SQUIRISH. Foolish.

SQUIRREL. A prostitute: because she, like that animal, covers her back with her tail. Meretrix corpore corpus alit. Menagiana, ii. 128.

SQUIRREL-HUNTING. See HUNTING.

STAG. To turn stag; to impeach one's confederates: from a herd of deer, who are said to turn their horns against any of their number who is hunted.

STAG. To find, discover, or observe.

STAGGERING BOB WITH HIS YELLOW PUMPS. A calf just dropped and unable to stand, killed for veal in Scotland: the hoofs of a young calf are yellow.

STALE DRUNK. A person is said to be stale drunk when they feel languid after a night's debauch.

STAINES. A man who is in pecuniary distress is said to be at Staines, or at the Bush, alluding to the Bush Inn at that town. See BUSHED.

STAKE. A booty acquired by robbery, or a sum of money won at play, is called a stake; and, if considerable, a prime stake, or a heavy stake. A person alluding to any thing difficult to be procured, or which he obtains as a great favour, and is therefore comparatively invaluable, would say I consider it a stake to get it all : a valuable or acceptable acquisition of any kind is emphatically called a stake, meaning a great prize.

STALL WHIMPER. A bastard. Cant.

STALL OFF. A term variously applied ; generally, it means a pretence, excuse, or prevarication : as, a person charged with any fault, entering into some plausible story, to excuse himself, his hearers or accusers would say, O yes, that's a good stall off, or, Aye, aye, stall it off that way if you can. To extricate a person from any dilemma, or save him from disgrace, is called, stalling him off : as, an accomplice of yours being detected in a robbery, &c. and about to be given up to justice, you will step up as a stranger, interfere in his behalf, and, either by vouching for his innocence, recommending lenity, or some other artifice, persuade his accusers to forego their intention, and let the prisoner escape : you will then boast of having stalled him off in prime twig. To avoid or escape any impending evil or punishment by means of artifice, submission, bribe, or otherwise, is also called stalling it off. A man walking the streets, and passing a particular shop, or encountering a certain person, which or whom he has reasons for wishing to avoid, will say to any friend who may be with him, I wish you'd stall me off from that crib, (or from that cove, as the case may be,) meaning, walk in such a way as to cover or obscure me from notice, until we are past the shop or person in question.

STALL UP. To stall a person up, (a term used by pick-pockets,) is to surround him in a crowd, or violent pressure, and even sometimes in the open street, while walking along, and by violence force his arms up, and keep them in that position while others of the gang rifle his pockets at pleasure, the cove being unable to help or defend himself ; this is what the newspapers denominate hustling, and is universally practised at the doors of public theatres, at boxing matches, ship launches, and other places where the general anxiety of all ranks, either to push forward, or to obtain a view of the scene before them, forms a pretext for jostling, and every other advantage which the strength or numbers of one party gives them over a weaker one, or a single person. It is not unusual for the buz-coves, on particular occasions, to procure a formidable squad of stout fellows of the lower class, who, though not expert at knuckling, render essential service by violently pushing and squeezing in the crowd, and, in the confusion excited by this conduct, the unconcerned prigs reap a plentiful harvest, and the stallers up are gratified with such part of the gains acquired as the liberality of the knuckling gentlemen may prompt them to bestow. This coup de guerre is termed making a regular stall at such a place, naming the scene of their operations. See STALL.

STALLING. Making or ordaining. Stalling to the rogue; an ancient ceremony of instituting a candidate into the society of rogues, somewhat similar to the creation of a herald at arms. It is thus described by Harman: the upright man taking a gage of bowse, i.e. a pot of strong drink, pours it on the head of the rogue to be admitted, saying, I, A B, do stall thee, B C, to the rogue; and from henceforth it shall be lawful for thee to cant for thy living in all places.

- SUDS. In the suds; in trouble, in a disagreeable situation, or involved in some difficulty.
- SUGAR STICK. The virile member.
- SUIT. In general, synonymous with game: as, what suit did you give it to 'em upon? in what manner did you rob them, or upon what pretence, &c. did you defraud them? One species of imposition is said to be a prime suit, another a queer suit: a man describing the pretext he used to obtain money from another, would say, I drew him of a quid upon the suit of so and so, naming the ground of his application. (See DRAW.) A person having engaged with another on very advantageous terms to serve or work for him, will declare that he is upon a good suit. To use great submission and respect in asking any favour of another, is called giving it to him upon the humble suit.
- SUIT AND CLOAK. Good store of brandy, or other strong liquor, let down gutter-lane.
- SUIT OF MOURNING. A pair of black eyes. Cant.
- SULKY. A one-horse chaise or carriage, capable of holding but one person: called by the French a désobligeante.
- SUN. To have been in the sun; said of one that is drunk.
- SUNBURNT. Clapped: also, having many male children.
- SUNDAY MAN. One who goes abroad on that day only, for fear of arrests.
- SUNNY BANK. A good fire in winter.

SUPERNACULUM. Good liquor, of which there is not even a drop left sufficient to wet one's nail.

SURVEYOR OF THE HIGHWAYS. One reeling drunk.

SURVEYOR OF THE PAVEMENT. One standing in the pillory.

SUSPENSE. One in a deadly suspense; a man just turned off the gallows.

SUS. PER COLL. Hanged: persons who have been hanged are thus entered into the jailer's books.

SUTLER. A camp publican: also, one that pilfers gloves, tobacco boxes, and such small moveables.

SWABBERS. The ace of hearts, knave of clubs, ace and duce of trumps at whist: also, the lubberly seamen, put to swab and clean the ship.

SWAD, or SWADKIN. A soldier. Cant.

SWADDLE. To beat with a stick.

SWADDLERS. The tenth order of the canting tribe, who not only rob, but beat, and often murder passengers. Cant. Swaddlers is, also, the Irish name for methodists.

SWAG. A bundle, parcel, or package; as a swag of snow, &c. The swag, is a term used in speaking of any booty you have lately obtained, be it of what kind it may, except money; as where did you lumber the swag? that is, where did you deposit the stolen property? To carry the swag is to be the bearer of the stolen goods to a place of safety. A swag of any thing, signifies, emphatically, a great deal. To have knapp'd a good swag, is to have got a good booty.

SWAG. Wearing-apparel, linen, piece-goods, &c. are all comprehended under the name of swag, (when describing any speak lately made, &c.) in order to distinguish them from plate, jewellery, or other more portable articles.

SWAGGER. To bully, brag, or boast: also, to strut.

SWANNERY. He keeps a swannery, i.e. all his geese are swans.

SWAP. To exchange or barter one article for another. Irish cant.

SWEATING. A mode of diminishing the gold coin, practised chiefly by the Jews, who corrode it with aqua regia. Sweating was, also, a diversion practised by the bloods of the last century, who styled themselves Mohocks: these gentlemen lay in wait to surprise some person late in the night, when, surrounding him, they with their swords pricked him in the posteriors, which obliged him to be constantly turning round; this they continued till they thought him sufficiently sweated.

SWERT. Easy to be imposed on, or taken in: also, expert, dexterous, clever. Sweet's your hand; said of one dexterous at stealing.

SWEETEN. A gawler. To give money to a beggar. Cant.

S W I

SWEET HEART. A term applicable to either the masculine or feminine gender, signifying a girl's lover, or a man's mistress: derived from a sweet cake in the shape of a heart.

SWEETNERS. Guinea droppers, cheats, sharpers. To sweeten; to decoy, or draw in. To be sweet upon; to coax, wheedle, court, or allure. He seemed sweet upon that wench; he seemed to court that girl.

SWELL. A gentleman; but any well-dressed person is emphatically termed a swell, or a rank swell. A family man who appears to have plenty of money, and makes a genteel figure, is said, by his associates, to be in Swell-street. Any thing remarkable for its beauty or elegance is called a swell article; so a swell crib is a genteel house; a swell mollisher, an elegantly dressed woman, &c. Sometimes, in alluding to a particular gentleman, whose name is not requisite, he is styled the swell, meaning the person who is the object of your discourse, or attention; and whether he is called the swell, the cove, or the gory, is immaterial, as in the following (in addition to many other) examples:—I was turned up at China-street, because the swell would not appear; meaning, of course, the prosecutor: again, speaking of a person whom you were on the point of robbing, but who has taken the alarm, and is therefore on his guard, you will say to your pall, it's of no use, the cove is as down as a hammer; or, we may as well stow it, the gory's leary. See COVE and DOWN.

SWELLED HEAD. A disorder to which horses are extremely liable, particularly those of the subalterns of the army. This disorder is generally occasioned by remaining too long in one livery-stable or inn, and often arises to that height that it prevents their coming out at the stable door. The most certain cure is the unguentum aureum—not applied to the horse, but to the palm of the master of the inn or stable. N. B. Neither this disorder, nor its remedy, is mentioned by either Bracken, Bartlet, or any of the modern writers on farriery.

SWIG. A hearty draught of liquor.

SWIGMEN. Thieves who travel the country under colour of buying old shoes, old clothes, &c. or selling brooms, mops, &c. Cant.

SWILL. To drink greedily.

SWILL TUB. A drunkard, a sot.

SWIMMER. A counterfeit old coin.

SWIMMER. A ship. I shall have a swimmer; a cant phrase used by thieves to signify that they will be sent on board the tender.

- SWORD RACKET. To enlist in different regiments, and, on receiving the bounty, to desert immediately.
- SYEBUCK. Sixpence.
- SYNTAX. A schoolmaster.

T

- TABBY. An old maid; either from Tabitha, a formal antiquated name, or else from a tabby cat, old maids being often compared to cats. To drive tab; to go out on a party of pleasure with a wife and family.
- TACE. Silence, hold your tongue. Tace is Latin for a candle; a jocular admonition to be silent on any subject.
- TACKLE. A mistress: also, good clothes. The cull has tipt his tackle rum gigging; the fellow has given his mistress good clothes. A man's tackle; the genitals.
- TAFFY, i. e. Davy. A general name for a Welshman, St. David being the tutelary saint of Wales. Taffy's day. The first day of March, St. David's day.

T A P

TAG-RAG and BOB-TAIL. An expression meaning an assemblage of low people, the mobility of all sorts. To tag after one like a tantony pig; to follow one wherever one goes, just as St. Anthony is followed by his pig.

TAIL. A prostitute: also, a sword.

TAILOR. Nine tailors makes a man; an ancient and common saying, originating from the effeminacy of their employment; or, as some have it, from nine tailors having been robbed by one man; according to others, from the speech of a woollen-draper, meaning that the custom of nine tailors would make or enrich one man. A London tailor, rated to furnish half a man to the trained bands, asking how that could possibly be done? was answered, by sending four journeymen and an apprentice. Put a tailor, a weaver, and a miller into a sack, shake them well, and the first that puts out his head is certainly a thief. A tailor is frequently styled pricklouse, from their assaults on those vermin with their needles.

TAILOR'S GOOSE. An iron with which, when heated, they press down the seams of clothes.

TALE TELLERS. Persons said to have been formerly hired to tell wonderful stories of giants and fairies, to lull their hearers to sleep. Talesman; the author of a story or report: I'll tell you my tale and my talesman. Tale-bearers; mischief makers, incendiaries in families.

TALLY MEN. Brokers that let out clothes to the women of the town. See RABBIT SUCKERS.

TAME. To run tame about a house; to live familiarly in the family with which one is upon a visit. Tame army; the city trained bands.

TANDEM. A two-wheeled chaise, buggy, or noddie, drawn by two horses, one before the other; that is, at length.

TANNER. A sixpence. The kiddy tipt the rattling cove a tanner for luck; the lad gave the coachman sixpence for drink.

TANTRUMS. Pet, or passion; madam was in her tantrums.

TAP. A gentle blow. A tap on the shoulder; an arrest. To tap a girl; to be the first seducer: in illusion to a beer barrel. To tap a guinea; to get it changed.

TAPE. Red tape; brandy. Blue or white tape; gin.

"In this dim foggy clime they think if they cram one
With tape in the morning and punch in the night,
They do the thing neat," &c. &c.

Vide Randall's Scrap Book.

ALSO,

"Open your throats, lads, wide as you handle
The tape I pour into the glass in each dandle."

Ibid.

TARPAWLIN. A coarse cloth tarred over : also, figuratively, a sailor.

TARRING and FEATHERING. A punishment lately inflicted by the good people of Boston, in America, on any person convicted or suspected of loyalty : such delinquents being stripped naked, were daubed all over with tar, and afterwards put into a hogshead of feathers.

TART. Sour, sharp, quick, pert.

TARTAR. To catch a Tartar ; to attack one of superior strength or abilities. This saying originated from a story of an Irish soldier in the Imperial service, who, in a battle against the Turks, called out to his comrade that he had caught a Tartar. 'Bring him along then,' said he. 'He won't come,' answered Paddy. 'Then come along yourself,' replied his comrade. 'Arrah,' cried he, 'but he won't let me.' A Tartar is also an adept at any feat or game ; he is quite a Tartar at cricket or billiards.

TAT. Tit for tat ; an equivalent.

TATLER. A watch. To flash a tatler : to wear a watch.

- TEN TOES. See BAYARD OF TEN TOES.
- TERMAGANT. An outrageous scold: from Termagantes, a cruel pagan, formerly represented in divers shows and entertainments, where, being dressed à la Turque, in long clothes, he was mistaken for a furious woman.
- TERRA FIRMA. An estate in land.
- TESTER. A sixpence: from teston, a coin with a head on it.
- TETBURY PORTION. A * * * * and a clap.
- THAMES. He will not find out a way to set the Thames on fire; he will not make any wonderful discoveries, he is no conjuror.
- THATCH-GALLOWS. A rogue, or man of bad character.
- THICK. Intimate. They are as thick as two inkle-weavers.
- THIEF. You are a murderer and a thief, you have killed a baboon, and stolen his face; vulgar abuse.
- THIEF IN A CANDLE. Part of the wick, or snuff, which, falling on the tallow, burns and melts it, and, causing it to gutter, thus steals it away.
- THIEF TAKERS. Fellows who associate with all kinds of villains, in order to betray them, when they have committed any of those crimes which entitle the persons taking them to a handsome reward, called blood money. It is the business of these thief takers to furnish subjects for a handsome execution at the end of every sessions.
- THIMBLE. A watch. The swell flashes a rum thimble; the gentleman sports a fine watch.
- THINGSTABLE. Mr. Thingstable; Mr. Constable: a ludicrous affectation of delicacy in avoiding the pronunciation of the first syllable in the title of that officer, which, in sound, has some similarity to an indecent monosyllable.
- THINGUMBOB. Mr. Thingumbob; a vulgar address or nomination to any person whose name is unknown, the same as Mr. What-d'ye-call'im. Thingumbobs; testicles.

T H R

THIRTEENER. A shilling in Ireland, which there passes for thirteen pence.

THOMAS. Man Thomas ; a man's virile member.

THORNBACK. An old maid.

THORNS. To be or sit upon thorns ; to be uneasy, impatient, anxious for an event.

THOROUGH BRED. Derived from a good stock. The following little genuine anecdote may forcibly illustrate this term : the father of a celebrated pugilist, who distinguished himself in 1819, on being asked as to the qualities of his son, answered, " I was always considered a good man myself ; and, as to my boy's mother, she and I had a fall out one day, when I floored her six times successively, but she came again, as if nothing had happened. I then allowed her the best of the quarrel ; and I think this circumstance will satisfy any amateur that my son is a game man, and his pedigree sound."

THOROUGH CHURCHMAN. A person who goes in at one door of a church, and out at the other, without stopping.

THOROUGH COUGH. Coughing and breaking wind backwards at the same time.

T O G

as a toad of a side-pocket: said of a person who desires any thing for which he has no real occasion. As full of money as a toad is of feathers.

TOAD-EATER. A poor female relation, and humble companion or reduced gentlewoman, in a great family, the standing butt, on whom all kinds of practical jokes are played off, and all ill humours vented. This appellation is derived from a mountebank's servant, on whom all experiments used to be made in public by the doctor, his master; among which was the eating of toads, formerly supposed poisonous. Swallowing toads is here figuratively meant for swallowing or putting up with insults, as disagreeable to a person of feeling as toads to the stomach.

TOAST. A health: also, a beautiful woman whose health is often drank by men. The origin of this term (as it is said) was this:—a beautiful lady bathing in a cold bath, one of her admirers, out of gallantry, drank some of the water; whereupon another of her lovers observed, he never drank in the morning, but he would kiss the toast, and immediately saluted the lady.

TOASTING IRON, or CHEESE-TOASTER. A sword.

TOBACCO. A plant, once in great estimation as a medicine.

Tobacco hic
Will make you well if you be sick.
Tobacco hic
If you be well will make you sick.

TOBY. To toby a man is to rob him on the highway; a person convicted of this offence is said to be done for a toby. The toby applies exclusively to robbing on horseback; the practice of footpad robbery being properly called the spice, though it is common to distinguish the former by the title of high-toby, and the latter of low-toby.

TOBY-GILL, or TOBYMAN. Properly signifies a highwayman.

TODDLE. To walk away. The cove was touting, but staggering the traps he toddled; he was looking out and seeing the officers he walked away.

“ Oft may we hear thy cheerful footsteps sound,

Was the fanciful world in such very prime twig."
Crib's Memorial.

———" Lark, or some delicious jig,
The mind delights in, when 'tis in prime twig."
Vide Randall's Diary.

TWISS. A jordan, or pot de chambre. (Irish.) A Mr. Richard Twiss, having, in his "travels," given a very unfavourable description of the Irish character, the inhabitants of Dublin, by way of revenge, thought proper to christen this utensil by his name—suffice it to say, that the baptismal rites were not wanting at the ceremony. On a nephew of this gentleman, the following epigram was made:

" Perish the country, yet my name
Shall ne'er in story be forgot,
But still the more increase in fame,
The more the country goes to pot."

V A L

At the bottom of the jordan was his portrait, and the following specimen of Irish wit :

" Let every one piss,
On lying Dick Twiss."

TWIST. A mixture of half tea and half coffee; likewise brandy, beer, and eggs. A good twist; a good appetite. To twist it down apace; to eat heartily.

TYBURN BLOSSOM. A young thief or pickpocket, who, in time, will ripen into fruit borne by the deadly never-green.

TYBURN TIPPET. A halter: see Latimer's sermon before Edward VI. A.D. 1549. Rather obsolete in 1822.

TYE. A neckcloth.

TYE IT UP. To tye up any particular custom, practice, or habit, is synonymous with knifing, stowing, turning it up, or stashing it. To tye it up is a phrase, which, used emphatically, is generally understood to mean quitting a course of depredation and wickedness. See SQUARE and DO THE TRICK.

TYKE. A dog: also, a clown: a Yorkshire tyke.

V

VAGARIES. Frolics, wild rambles.

VAIN-GLORIOUS, or OSTENTATIOUS MAN. One who boasts without reason; or, as the canters say, pisses more than he drinks.

VALENTINE. The first woman seen by a man, or man seen by a woman, on St. Valentine's day, the 14th of February, is generally chosen to this post, and has the sole right to the first night's lodging with the dells, who afterwards are used in common among the whole fraternity. He carries a short truncheon in his hand, which he calls his filchman, and has a larger share than ordinary of whatever is gained by the society. He often travels in company with thirty or forty males and females, abram men, and others, over whom he presides arbitrarily. Sometimes the women and children, who are unable to travel, or fatigued, are by turns carried in panniers by an ass or two, or by some poor jades procured for that purpose.

W A G

UPSTARTS. Persons lately raised to honours and riches from mean stations.

UP THE SPOUT. Having clothes or any other articles pledged at the pawnbroker's: in allusion to a long spout, through which the articles, when redeemed, are conveyed from the top to the bottom of the house, in order to expedite business.

UP TO SLUM. To be flash. Cant.

UP TO SNUFF. Synonymous with the above phrase; and is often rendered more emphatic by such adjuncts as, "Up to snuff and two-penny," "Up to snuff, and a pinch above it." Cant.

UP TO THEIR GOSSIP. To be a match for one who attempts to cheat or deceive; to be on a footing, or in the secret. I'll be up with them; I will repay in kind.

URCHIN. A child, a little fellow: also, a hedgehog.

WACK. To share or divide any thing equally, as wack the blunt, divide the money, &c.

WADDLE. To go like a duck. To waddle out of 'Change Alley as a lame duck; a term for one who has not been able to pay his gaming debts, called his differences, on the Stock Exchange, and therefore absents himself from it.

WAG. An arch frolicsome fellow.

WAGGISH. Arch, gamesome, frolicsome.

WAGTAIL. A lewd woman.

W A P

WAITS. Musicians of the lower order, who in most towns play under the windows of the chief inhabitants at midnight, a short time before Christmas, for which they collect a Christmas-box from house to house. They are said to derive their name of waits from being always in waiting to celebrate weddings and other joyous events happening within their district.

WAKE. A country feast, commonly on the anniversary of the tutelar saint of the village, that is, the saint to whom the parish church is dedicated: also, a custom of watching the dead, called Late Wake, in use both in Ireland and Wales, where the corpse is deposited under a table, with a plate of salt on its breast; the table is covered with liquor of all sorts, and the guests, particularly the younger part of them, amuse themselves with all kinds of pastimes and recreation: the consequence is generally more than replacing the departed friend.

WALKER. A flash expression for telling a lie.

WALKING DISTILLER. One who carries the keg, i. e. a person who is very easy put out of his way: one soon affronted without a cause.

WALKING POULTERER. One who steals fowls, and hawks them from door to door.

WALKING STATIONER. A hawker of pamphlets, &c.

WALKING THE PLANK. A mode of destroying devoted persons or officers in a mutiny or ship-board, by blindfolding them, and obliging them to walk on a plank, laid over the ship's side; by this means, as the mutineers suppose, avoiding the penalty of murder.

WALKING UP AGAINST THE WALL. To run up a score, which, in ale-houses, is commonly recorded with chalk on the walls of the bar.

WALL. To walk or crawl up the wall; to be scored up at a public-house. Wall-eyed, having an eye with little or no sight, all white like a plastered wall.

WALL-FLOWERS. Clothes exposed to sale in the streets.
Cant.

WANTED. When any of the traps or runners have a private information against a family person, and are using means to apprehend the party, they say, such a one is wanted; and it becomes the latter, on receiving such intimation, to keep out of the way, until the stink is over, or until he or she can find means to stash the business through the medium of Mr. Palmer, or by some other means.

WAP. To copulate, to beat. If she wont wap for a winne, let her trine for a make; if she won't lie with a man for a penny, let her hang for a halfpenny. Mort wap-apace; a woman of experience, or very expert at this sport.

WEDGE. Silver plate, because melted by the receivers of stolen goods into wedges. Cant.

WEED. To pilfer or purloin a small portion from a large quantity of any thing; often done by young or timid depredators, in the hope of escaping detection, as, an apprentice or shopman will weed his master's lob, that is, take small sums out of the till when opportunity offers, which sort of speculation may be carried on with impunity for a length of time; but experienced thieves sometimes think it good judgement to weed a place, in order that it may be good again, perhaps, for a considerable length of time, as in the instance of a warehouse, or other depôt for goods, to which they may possess an easy access by means of a false key; in this case, by taking too great a swag at first, the proprietors would discover the deficiency, and take measures to prevent future depredation. To weed the swag is to embezzle part of the booty, unknown to your pals, before a division takes place, a temptation against which very few of the family are proof, if they can find an opportunity. A flash cove, on discovering a deficiency in his purse or property, which he cannot account for, will declare that he, (or it, naming the article,) has been wedded to the ruffian.

WEeping CROSS. To come home by Weeping-cross; to repent.

WEIGH FORTY. A term formerly used by the police, who are as well versed in flash as the thieves themselves and of whom it is said, did often wink at depredations of a petty nature, for which no reward would attach, and to let a thief reign unmolested till he commits a capital crime; they then grab him, and, on conviction, share (in many cases) a reward of £40, or upwards; therefore those gentry will say, Let him alone at present, we don't want him till he weighs his weight, meaning, of course, forty pounds.

WELL. To divide unfairly. To conceal part. A cant phrase used by thieves, where one of the party conceals some of the booty, instead of dividing it fairly amongst his confederates.

WHIT. [i.e. Whittington's.] Newgate. Cant. Five rum-padders are rubbed in the darkmans out of the Whit, and are piked into the deuseaville: five highwaymen broke out of Newgate in the night, and are gone into the country.

WHITE BAIT. Silver. Cant.

WHITECHAPEL. Whitechapel portion; two smocks and what nature gave. Whitechapel breed; fat, ragged, and saucy. See ST. GILES'S BREED. Whitechapel beau; one who dresses with a needle and thread, and undresses with a knife. To play at whist Whitechapel fashion; i.e. aces and kings first.

WHITE FEATHER. He has a white feather; he is a coward: an allusion to a game cock, which having a white feather is a proof that he is not of the true game breed. Speaking of Randall, the author of Randall's Diary says,

" He never yet has shown in fight
The snow-white feather's damning shade."

Recounting a meeting at Belcher's, the author of Crib's Memorial says they were

" All high-bred heroes of the ring,
Whose very gammon would delight one,
Who, nurs'd beneath the Fancy's wing,
Show all her feathers but the white one."

W I D

- WIPE. A handkerchief. Cant.
- WIPE DRAWER. A pickpocket, one who steals handkerchiefs. He drew a broad, narrow, cam, or specked wiper; he picked a pocket of a broad, narrow, cambrick, or coloured handkerchief.
- WISE MEN OF GOTHAM. Gotham is a village in Nottinghamshire: its magistrates are said to have attempted to hedge in a cuckoo; a bush, called the cuckoo's bush, is still shown in support of the tradition. A thousand other ridiculous stories are told of the men of Gotham.
- WISEACRE. A foolish conceited fellow.

WOODEN HORSE. To ride. This horse, fixed to the punishment formerly in use. It was supported by four posts, about or more planks about eight feet long, which answered to the body of the horse. It was supported by four posts, about to form a sharp ridge or angle, and tail, rudely cut six feet long, for legs. A head, neck, and tail, mounted, in wood, were added, which completed the appearance of a horse. On this sharp ridge delinquents were mounted, with their hands tied behind them; and to steady them (as it was said), and lest the horse should kick them off, one or more firelocks were tied to each leg. In this situation they were sometimes condemned to sit for an hour or two; but, at length, it having been found to injure the soldiers materially, and sometimes to rupture them, it was left off about the time of the accession of King George I. A wooden horse was standing in the Parade at Portsmouth as late as the year 1750.

W R I

WOMAN'S CONSCIENCE. Never satisfied.

WOMAN OF ALL WORK. Sometimes applied to a female servant, who refuses none of her master's commands.

WOOLBIRD. A sheep. Cant.

WOOL-GATHERING. Your wits are gone a wool-gathering; saying to an absent man, one in a reverie, or absorbed in thought.

WOOLLEY CROWN. A soft-headed fellow.

WORD GRUBBERS. Verbal critics: and, also, persons who use hard words in common discourse.

WORD PECKER. A punster, one who plays upon words.

WORD OF MOUTH. To drink by word of mouth; i.e. out of the bowl or bottle, instead of a glass.

WORK. To work upon any particular game, is to practise generally that species of fraud or depredation; as, he works upon the crack; he follows house-breaking, &c. A offender having been detected in the very fact, particularly in cases of coining, colouring base metal, &c. is emphatically said to have been grabbed at work, meaning to imply, that the proof against him being so plain, he has no ground of defence to set up.

WORK-BENCH. A bedstead. Cant.

WORLD. All the world and his wife; every body, a great company.

WRANGLERS. At Cambridge, the first class (generally of twelve) at the annual examination for a degree. There are three classes of honours, wranglers, senior optimes, and junior optimes. Wranglers are said to be born with golden spoons in their mouths, the senior optimes with silver, and the junior with leaden ones. The last junior optime is called the wooden spoon. Those who are not qualified for honours are either in the gulf, (that is, meritorious, but not deserving of being in the three first classes,) or among the οι πολλοι, the many. See PLUCK, APOSTLES, &c.

WRAP RASCAL. A red cloak: called, also, a roquelaire.

WRINKLE. A wrinkle-bellied whore; one who has had a number of bastards: child-bearing leaves wrinkles in a woman's belly. To take the wrinkles out of any one's belly; to fill it out by a hearty meal. You have one wrinkle more in your a-se; i.e. you have one piece of knowledge more than you had, every fresh piece of knowledge being supposed, by the vulgar naturalists, to add a wrinkle to that part.

WRINKLE. To utter a falsehood. Cant.

WRINKLER. A person prone to lying: such a character is called, also, a gully, which is, probably, an abbreviation of Gulliver, and from hence, to gully signifies to lie, or deal in the marvellous.

WRY MOUTH AND A PISSEN PAIR OF BREECHES. Hanging.

WRY NECK DAY. Hanging day.

WYN. See WIN.

X

XANTIPPE. The name of Socrates' wife; now used to signify a shrew, or scolding wife.

Y

YACK. A watch. Obsolete.

YAFFLING. Eating. Cant.

YAM. To eat or stuff heartily.

YANKEY, or YANKEY DOODLE. A booby, or country lout: a name given to the New Englandmen in North America. A general appellation for an American.

YARMOUTH CAPON. A red herring: Yarmouth being a famous place for curing herrings.

YARMOUTH PYE. A pye made of herrings highly spiced, which the city of Norwich is, by charter, bound to present annually to the king.

YARN. Yarning, or spinning a yarn, is a favourite amusement among flash people, signifying to relate their various adventures, exploits, and escapes, to each other. This is most common and gratifying among persons in confinement or exile, to enliven a dull hour, and probably excite a secret hope of one day enjoying a repetition of their former pleasures. See BONED. A person expert at telling these stories is said to spin a fine yarn. A man using a great deal of rhetoric, and exerting all his art to talk another person out of any thing he is intent upon, the latter will answer, 'Aye, aye, you can spin a good yarn, but it won't do;' meaning, all your eloquence will not have the desired effect.

YARUM. Milk. Cant.

YEA AND NAY MAN. A quaker, a simple fellow, one who can only answer yes or no.

YELLOW. To look yellow; to be jealous. I happened to call on Mr. Green, who was out; on coming home, and finding me with his wife, he began to look confounded blue, and was, I thought, a little yellow.

YELLOW BELLY. A native of the fens of Lincolnshire; an allusion to the eels caught there.

YELLOW BOYS. Guineas.

Z O U

YELP. To cry out. Yelper; a town crier: also, one apt to make great complaints on trifling occasions.

YELPERS. Wild beasts.

YEST. A contraction of yesterday.

YOKED. Married. A yoke; the quantum of labour performed at one spell by husbandmen, the day's work being divided in summer into three yokes. Kentish term.

YOKUFF. A chest or box.

YORK. To look at a person. Cant.

YORKSHIRE TYKE. A Yorkshire clown. To come Yorkshire over any one; to cheat him.

YOUKEL. A countryman. Cant.

YOUNG ONE. A familiar expression of contempt for another's ignorance, as, 'ah! I see you're a young one:' 'how d'ye do, young one?'

YOWL. To cry aloud, or howl.

Z

ZAD. Crooked, like the letter Z. He is a mere zad, or, perhaps, zed; a description of a very crooked or deformed person.

ZANY. The jester, jack pudding, or merry andrew to a mountebank.

ZEDLAND. Great part of the west country, where the letter Z is substituted for S: as zee for see, zun for sun, &c. &c. This prevails through the counties of Devonshire, Dorsetshire, and Somersetshire.

ZOC, or SOC. A blow. I gid him a zoc; I gave him a blow. West country.

ZOUCH, or SLOUCH. A slovenly ungenteeled man, one who has a stoop in his gait. A slouched hat; a hat with its brims let down, or uncocked.

ZOUNDS. An exclamation. An abbreviation of God's wounds.

EGAN'S LIFE IN LONDON,
in Thirty-Six Coloured Plates (the Scenes from real Life, by I. R. and G. CRUIKSHANK) and numerous Wood-Cuts.

An original Work, entitled LIFE IN LONDON; or, the DAY and NIGHT SCENES of Mr Hawthorn, Esq. and his elegant Friend, Mr. Ramble, in their Rambles and Sprees through the Metropolis. By PIERCE EGAN, author of "Walks through Bath," "Sporting Anecdotes," "Picture of the Fancy," "Boxing," &c. Elegantly printed in Royal 8vo. Price £1: 16s. in Boards, or, in Twelve Numbers, (to be had by one or more at a time,) 6s. 6d. each.

"They do these things better in France!" said ERNE. "I say not," replies TOM; "LONDON is the World for 'Life.'—Why, it's Carlton-Palace is 'Charley's Shelter,' and no chance to win." "Bravo," says JERRY; "there never was such times as these, my boy! Ha! ha!"—NEW CHAPTER.—From the above ORIGINAL WORK FIVE Dramas have been produced, and are nightly performed at five theatres in the Metropolis, besides, at the Theatre Royal, at Bristol, and several other theatres in various parts of the kingdom; and, in America. In the short space of eight months, the above celebrated heroes, TOM, JERRY, and LOGIC, have made their bows to upwards of half a Hundred different and delighted audiences, an epoch in dramatic history unprecedented, and which renders any comment on the popularity of this Original Work unnecessary.

In these days, when every man who can read calls himself a man of letters, and all who can write set up for authors; when almost every branch of literature has been stripped, and little remains but to begin at the beginning again; no small share of praise is due to the ingenious and daring author, who strikes into a new path, and presents to the public view an object which has never been seen before, or has been forgotten. THIS IS THE GREAT MERIT OF THE AUTHOR OF THE BOOK BEFORE US. The task is a difficult one, and not few men can execute it. Of the utility of such a work there can be no doubt, while London abounds as it does with imposture and temptation. As far as it has proceeded, (the first three numbers only having been published,) it is executed with considerable taste and truth, and deserves to fill a respectable rank among works of practical philosophy. It is one of the most amusing books lately published; for our own part, but perhaps we are partial, we prefer it to many of the sketches of mankind which have appeared since the days of the Man in the Moon. "Le Franc Parleur" does not speak half so plainly as our hero. "L'Hermite de la Chaussée d'Antin" reads too retired a life, and the "Hermit in London" is too dandily and rapid, to compare with him. Geoffrey Hamlyn presents mere sketches, while CORINTHIAN TOM gives finished portraits; with all the delicacy and precision of GERARD DOUW, he unites the boldness of TRUBENS, and the intimate knowledge of TENIERS." European Magazine, November, 1820.

TO THE SPORTING WORLD.

BOXIANA; or, SKETCHES OF MODERN PUGILISM: including every Pugilistic Extract from the Days of Figg and Broughton, down to the Fight between Painter and Spring, the 1st of April, 1818; with the Age, Height, Style of Fighting, and Character of the Pugilist, a variety of Original Anecdotes, &c.; forming a complete Boxing Calendar and Book of Reference. By PIERCE EGAN. In three large Volumes, 8vo. embellished with numerous PORTRAITS. Price £2 boards.

THE VOLUMES may be had separately:

VOL. I. (Dedicated to Captain Barclay,) contains every Tale and Anecdote, connected with scientific Pugilism, from Figg and Broughton to the period of Cribb's Championship; with an Introduction on the origin, rise, and progress of Pugilism in England. Price 12s. boards.

VOL. II. (Dedicated to the Earl of Yarmouth,) containing every Battle and Anecdote from Cribb's Championship to the First Battle of Painter and Spring; with an Introduction on the Antiquity of Pugilism, and the mode of using the Cæstus in the Combats of the Ancients, contrasted with the period of Figg and Broughton,—the Scientific Time of Mendoza,---and the improved system of Tactics, illustrated at the present day, by Mr. Jackson, and the advantages of the Gloves considered, as practised with at the Fives-Court: with an Account of the Origin and National Utility of the Pugilistic Club. Price 14s. boards.

VOL. III. (Dedicated to the Marquis of Worcester,) containing, in addition to the merits of the OLD and NEW SCHOOLS of Boxers, with their peculiar traits, contrasted,---REMARKS on the Re-appearance of Mendoza and Owen in the Prize-Ring. The decline and fall of Scroggins. The top-of-the-tree qualities of Randall, and his climax. Turner's practice in the Court of Chancery. The Irish Champion's visit to England. His victory over Oliver, and his Knighthood. Donnelly's return to Ireland. His death from the whiskey fever. Epitaphs, philosophical Oration, plaintive Ballads, Elegies, &c. connected with that mournful milling event. The tumble down of the Lancashire Hero. Rise of Spring. Bob, the Giant, twice overcome by Shelton. West-country Dick upon his legs. The Norfolk dumplings jumping out of the pot for joy. The intrepid little Gypsy, that supplies capers gratis, in all his turn-ups, to his opponents. Extensive business of the Master of the Rolls. The RUMPETEAKS dressed by Gas Light; and the Cooper also new hooded by the same blazing quality. The GYBLET-PIE opened to satisfy all the Lovers of Taste, and the RASHER broiled without a gridiron. The Spring of Myrtle turned Brown. Belcher the first second. Cooper's elegant Fight. Sutton still on the black side of the question---and the Champion of England not only having a hand still left for any Customer that wishes to shake it---the Cribb being also in his favour, besides keeping the Game alive, &c. &c.

The Third Volume will also be found rich in original anecdote, from the CORINTHIAN to the COSTERMONGER; in fact, the Author assures the Sporting World, not a stone has been left unturned to procure them. Likewise some NEW SONGS, incidental to the Fancy. Price 18s. boards.

"BOXIANA is a book we never tire of; take it up when we will, it puts us into immediate spirits. It is a sufficient justification of Pugilism to say,---Mr. EGAN is its Historian. He combines within himself, as the historian of British Pugilism, all the qualifications possessed by all the historians of British Poetry. He has all the elegance and feeling of a Percy---all the classical grace and inventive ingenuity of a Warton---all the enthusiasm and zeal of a Headly---all the acuteness and vigour of a Risson---all the learning and wit of an Elia---all the delicacy and discernment of a Campbell; and, at the same time, his style is perfectly his own, and likely to remain so, for it is as inimitable as it is excellent. The man who has not read "BOXIANA" is ignorant of the power of the English language."---Blackwood's Magazine, March, 1820.

SPORTING ANECDOTES.

SPORTING ANECDOTES, original and selected, (many of them concerning our late King); including numerous Characteristic Portraits of Persons in every Walk of Life, who have acquired Notoriety from their Achievements on the Turf, at the Table, and in the Diversions of the Field: the whole forming a Complete Delineation of the Sporting World. By PIERCE EGAN. Embellished with a characteristic Frontispiece, representing eight Varieties of Sporting Amusements, price 9s. in boards, or 12s. elegantly bound.

"Mr. Egan, the author of 'BOXIANA,' has, in a little Octavo Volume, entitled 'SPORTING ANECDOTES,' contrived to amass together all the particulars of Horse, Dog, and Man, worthy of being known.---It is a happy composition; full of whim and particular phrases, with a slip of morality in it, like a bit of lemon peel in one's punch, and delightfully flavoured with the choicest lime juice of slang. Deeply as we have dived into the jewels of Mr. Egan's book, the store is inexhaustible. Turn which way we will, innumerable sparkling subjects (the epithet is perfectly modern) invite us to take them. But we really, like Sinbad in the Valley of Serpents, must be content with the few invaluable diamonds, of which we have possessed ourselves. They are, and will be, a fortune to us. Every leaf in the book glitters like a river in the sun. How many interesting characters, anecdotes, and speculations beckon to our minds!—Jack Cavanagh, the ball-player, revels through three pages of genuine Fives-Court prose. Captain Barclay runs his matches,—trains,—and spurs before us.—Captain O'Kelly, the Duke of Queensbury, Colonel Thornton, Mr. Elwes, Colonel Mellish, and Major Topham, walk by us, not as “the illustrious dead,”—but alive,—ardent,—betting,—breathing,—all jollity, game, and spirit! Racers, pigeons, pedestrians, fighting-cocks, terriers, trotters, badgers, weasels, pheasants, falcons, fishermen, stoats, stags, foxes, and gentlemen,—swarm, like bees.—Matches against time,—extraordinary snipe shooting,—sights of a pigeon,—all that can be interesting to the naturalist, the pugilist, or the gentleman, is to be met with in Mr. Egan's book. It is the cleverest Volume in the World. It has no affectations,—no dispirited passages,—no tame subjects,—no nonsense! It does not run a long-winded subject down,—but is “every thing by fits, and nothing long.” All persons who have heard of Blumell, the running painter,—Wheatley, the fighting oilman,—the inimitable walking Powell,—Jack Spire, the racket-player,—the incomparable Dan Crisp,—the wonderful phenomenon mare, Mr. Wells's matchless Pipyleneal!—all who have read of Flying Childers,—Snowball, the fleet black greyhound,—Eclipse,—Tom Cribb,—Hambletonian, and Sir Charles Bunbury!—all, we say, who have heard or read of these great names, and who respect perfection and talent wherever it can be found,—let them purchase Mr. Egan's SPORTING ANECDOTES—for they are faithful in the dispensation of fame to Man and Beast.”—Baldwin's London Magazine, August and September, 1820.

THE ROAD TO A FIGHT.

A PICTURE of the FANCY GOING to a FIGHT at MOULSEY HURST, (measuring in length 14 feet,) containing numerous ORIGINAL CHARACTERS, many of them Portraits; in which all the FROLIC, FUN, LARK, GYO, LIFE, GAMMON, and TRYING-IT-ON, are depicted, incident to the pursuit of a PRIZE MILL: dedicated, by permission, to Mr. JACKSON, and the Noblemen and Gentlemen composing the PUGILISTIC CLUB.

THIS PICTURE commences with the Night before Starting, and depicts the Interior of the CASTLE TAVERN—Amateurs betting—and the DARTY CLUB in high Spirits. Also, the Bustle at Peep of Day, in setting off to the Scene of Action. The Road, in all that variety of style and costume which the SPORTING WORLD so amply furnishes,—exhibiting the CORINTHIANS in their bang-up sets-out of blood and bone; the SWELLS, NIB SPRIGS, and TIDY ONES, in their Tandems, Gigs, and Trotters; the Lads in their Rattlers, Heavy Drags, and Tumblers, including the Bermondsey Boys and Tothilfields Coster-mongers, in all their gradations, down to the Stampers, &c.
